

Michael Allen
Stephen M. Dane
John P. Relman
Thomas J. Keary
Pending admission pro hac vice
D. Scott Chang, #146403
Relman & Dane, PLLC
1225 19th Street, NW, Suite 600
Washington, DC 20036
Telephone: (202) 728-1888
Fax: (202) 728-0848
Attorneys for Plaintiffs

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

National Fair Housing Alliance, Inc., et al.,) Plaintiffs,) Case No. C07-3255 - SBA v.)
A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; et al.,) Defendants.) MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND ) AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT OF ) PLAINTIFFS' CONSOLIDATED
) OPPOSITION TO THE SPANOS
) DEFENDANTS' MOTIONS (1) TO ) DISMISS PLAINTIFFS' FIRST ) AMENDED COMPLAINT, (2) FOR ) MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT RE
) FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT, (3)
) TO DISMISS FOR FAILURE TO JOIN ) REQUIRED AND INDISPENSABLE ) PARTIES, AND (4) TO STRIKE ) VARIOUS CLAIMS FOR RELIEF ) SOUGHT IN PLAINTIFFS' FIRST ) AMENDED COMPLAINT

[Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6)]

Hearing Date: March 11, 2008

Time: 1:00 p.m.

Dept: Courtroom 3

Complaint Filed: June 20, 2007

TABLE OF CONTENTS

2	TABLE OF AUTHORITIES.....	v
3	I. INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT	1
4	II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND	7
5	III. LEGAL STANDARD	8
6	IV. ANALYSIS	9
7	A. PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE TIMELY UNDER HAVENS REALTY CORP. V. COLEMAN BECAUSE THE A.G. SPANOS DEFENDANTS HAVE ENGAGED IN AN UNLAWFUL PATTERN AND PRACTICE CONTINUING INTO THE LIMITATIONS PERIOD.....	11
8	1. Defendants' Design and Construction Of All 82 Or More Apartment Complexes Constitutes A Continuing Violation Under Havens	11
9	2. Defendants' Reliance on Nat'l R.R. Passenger Corp. v. Morgan Is Misplaced...14	14
10	3. There Is No Reason To Address Defendants' Remaining Arguments Which, In Any Event, Are Based On A Case That The Ninth Circuit Is Rehearing En Banc	15
11	B. PLAINTIFFS' ALLEGATIONS MEET THE SUPREME COURT'S REQUIREMENTS FOR ESTABLISHING ORGANIZATIONAL STANDING UNDER THE FAIR HOUSING ACT.....	16
12	1. Plaintiffs' Allegations Related to Standing.....	19
13	a. Plaintiffs' General Standing Allegations.....	19
14	2. Specific Allegations Related to the Frustration of Each Plaintiff's Mission.....	20
15	3. Specific Allegations Related to Plaintiffs' Diversion of Resources.....	22
16	4. Defendants' Responses to Plaintiffs' Standing Allegations Are Misplaced and Unpersuasive.....	24
17	a. Plaintiffs' Allegations Clearly Establish That Defendants Caused Plaintiffs' Injury.....	24

1	b.	Organizational Standing Under the Fair Housing Act Does Not Turn on How the Organization Became Aware of Defendants' Discrimination.....	25
2	c.	An Organization Plaintiff Need Not Be A Person Within A Protected Class or Sue on Behalf of a Person Within A Protected Class to Have Standing Under the Fair Housing Act.....	26
3	d.	The Proximity of Plaintiffs' Offices to Defendants' Inaccessible Buildings Is Not Relevant to Any Standing Injury.....	28
4	5.	Defendants' "Aggrieved Person" Arguments Are Subject to the Same Analysis as Their Standing Arguments.....	30
5	C.	PLAINTIFFS HAVE SOUGHT TO JOIN ALL PARTIES NECESSARY TO FULL AND FAIR ADJUDICATION OF THIS CASE.....	31
6	1.	A Defendant Class Action Comprised of the Current Owners and the Class Representatives Selected by Plaintiffs Is a Permissible Means of Joining the Owners.....	32
7	2.	Renters and Lenders Are Not Necessary Parties Under Rule 19(a). Nor Does Section 3613(d) of the FHA Make It Infeasible to Obtain Retrofit Relief In Their Absence Under Rule 19(b).....	35
8	D.	DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO STRIKE IS NEITHER AN AUTHORIZED NOR A PROPER WAY TO PROCURE DISMISSAL OF PART OF THE FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT.....	41
9	1.	The Fair Housing Act Permits Plaintiffs to Recover Damages for Defendants' Violations of the Act's Design and Construction Accessibility Requirements....	43
10	2.	The Fair Housing Act Permits Plaintiffs to Recover Punitive Damages for Defendants' Violations of the Act's Design and Construction Accessibility Requirements.....	44
11	3.	The Complaint Adequately Pleads a Claim for Injunctive Relief.....	45

1	E. DEFENDANTS' MISCELLANEOUS GROUNDS IN SUPPORT OF THEIR
2	MOTIONS ARE INSUFFICIENT SUPPORT OF THE RELIEF REQUESTED.....	47
3	V. CONCLUSION	48
4
5
6
7
8
9 10 11 12 13 14 15
16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25
26
27
28

1
2 TABLE OF AUTHORITIES
3

4 Cases

5 Alexander v. Riga , 208 F.3d 419 (3d Cir. 2000).....	18, 25, 27, 44
6 Allen v. Wright , 468 U.S. 737 (1984)	19
7 Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc. v. LOB, Inc. , 92 F. Supp. 2d. 456 (D. Md. 2000).....	37, 46
8 Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc. v. Rommell Builders, Inc. , 40 F. Supp. 2d 700 (D.Md. 1999)	33, 37, 40, 46
9 Barnes v. Callaghan & Company , 559 F.2d 1102 (7th Cir. 1977)	43
10 Besinga v. United States , 923 F.133, 136 (9th Cir. 1991)	35
11 Block v. City of Los Angeles , 253 F.3d 410 (9th Cir. 2001)	13, 14
12 Bureerong v. Uvawas , 922 F. Supp. 1450, 1479 (C.D. Cal. 1996).....	4, 42, 44
13 Cabrera v. Jakabovitz , 24 F.3d 372 (2d Cir. 1994)	25
14 Califano v. Yamasaki , 442 U.S. 682, 99 S. Ct. 2545, 61 L. Ed. 2d 176 (1979).....	33
15 City of Chicago v. Matchmaker Real Estate Sales Center, Inc. , 982 F.2d 1086 (7th Cir. 1992)	18
16 City of Edmonds v. Oxford House , 514 U.S. 725, 731 (1995)	11
17 Clark v. McDonald's Corp. , 213 F.R.D. 198 (D.N.J. 2003).....	19
18 Colaprico v. Sun Microsystems, Inc. , 758 F. Supp. 1335, 1339 (N.D. Cal. 1991).....	5, 42
19 Dion, LLC v. Infotek Wireless, Inc. , 2007 WL 3231738 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 30, 2007).....	8, 42
20 Eastern Paralyzed Veterans Ass'n, Inc. v. Lazarus-Burman Assocs. , 133 F. Supp. 2d 203 (E.D.N.Y. 2003).....	19
21 Equal Rights Center v. Equity Residential , 483 F. Supp. 2d 482 (D. Md. 2007)	passim
22 Equal Rights Center v. Post Properties, Inc. , 522 F. Supp.2d 1, (D.D.C. 2007)	41
23 Fair Housing Council, Inc. v. Village of Olde St. Andrews, Inc. , 210 Fed. Appx. 469 (6th Cir. 2006).....	13, 25, 26, 28
24 Fair Housing of Marin v. Combs , 285 F.3d 899 (9th Cir. 2002).....	passim
25 Fountila v. Carter , 571 F.2d 487 (9th Cir. 1978)	44
26 Friends of the Earth v. Laidlaw Env'l. Serv. , 528 U.S. 167 (2000).....	17, 31
27 Garcia v. Brockway , 503 F.3d 1092 (9th Cir. 2007)	3, 10, 15, 16
28 Garcia v. Brockway , ____ F.3d ___, 2008 WL 90233 (9th Cir. Jan. 7, 2008).....	3, 10
	19, 27

1	Gresham v. Windrush Partners, Ltd. , 730 F.2d 1417 (11th Cir. 1984)	18
2	Growth Horizons, Inc. v. Delaware County, Pa. , 983 F.2d 1277 (3d Cir. 1993)	27
3	Hartog v. Jots, Inc. , 2004 WL 2600280 (N.D.Cal. Nov. 12, 2004).....	9
4	Havens Realty Corp. v. Coleman , 455 U.S. 363 (1982)	passim
5	Heights Community Congress v. Hilltop Realty, Inc. , 774 F.2d 135 (6th Cir. 1985), cert. denied, 475 U.S. 1019 (1986)	18
7	H.I.P. v. K. Hovnanian at Mahwah VI, Inc. , 291 N.J. Super. 144, 676 A.2d 1166	40
8	Home v. The Cincinnati Enquirer , 943 F.2d 644 (6th Cir. 1991).....	18
9	Inland Mediation Board v. City of Pomona , 158 F. Supp. 2d 1120 (C.D. Cal. 2001)	12
10	Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife , 504 U.S. 555 (1992)	23
11	Memphis Center for Independent Living v. Makowsky Construction Co. , No. 01-2069 (July 29, 2003 W.D. Tenn.)	12, 13
13	Milliken v. Bradley , 433 U.S. 267, 279-80, 97 S. Ct. 2749, 53 L.Ed.2d 745 (1977)). Id. at 468	37, 46
14	Mintel Learning Technology v. Beijing Kaidi Education & Technology Development Co., Ltd. , Slip Copy, 2007 WL 2288329, at *11 (N.D. Cal 2007)	32
16	Moseke v. Miller & Smith, Inc. , 202 F. Supp. 2d 492 (E.D. Va. 2002).....	16, 18, 29
17	Nat'l R.R. Passenger Corp. v. Morgan , 536 U.S. 101, 115 n.16 (2002), MD at 11	10, 14, 15
18	National Association for Mental Health Inc. v. Califano , 717 F.2d 1451 (D.C. Cir. 1983)	35
19	National Fair Housing Alliance v. Prudential Insurance Co. of America , 208 F.Supp.2d 46 (D.D.C. 2002)..	25, 30
20	Parkview Heights Corp. v. City of Black , 467 F.2d 1208 (8th Cir. 1972).....	18
21	Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts , 472 U.S. 797, 105 S. Ct 2965 (1985)	34, 35
22	Ragin v. Harry Macklowe Real Estate Co. , 6 F.3d 898, 905 (2d Cir. 1993).....	18
23	Schneider v. Chertoff , 450 F.3d 944 (9th Cir. 2006)	15
24	Schneider v. Whatley , 417 F. Supp. 750 (S.D. N.Y 1976).....	36
25	Shermoen v. United States , 982 F.2d 1312 (9th Cir.1992)	32
26	Silver State Fair Housing Council, Inc. v. ERGS, Inc. , 362 F. Supp. 2d 1218 (D. Nev. 2005)	11, 13, 15, 16
27	Simovits v. Chanticleer Condominium Ass'n , 933 F.Supp. 1394 (N.D. Ill. 1996)	40
28	Smith v. Pacific Prop. & Dev. Corp. , 358 F.3d 1097 (9th Cir. 2004)	passim

1	Smith v. Wade , 461 U.S. 30 (1983).....	44
2	Spann v. Colonial Village, Inc. , 662 F. Supp. 541 (D.D.C. 1987).....	13
3	Spann v. Colonial Village, Inc. , 899 F.2d 24 (D.C. Cir. 1990)	13, 18
4	Syverson v. IBM Corp. , 472 F.3d 1072 (9th Cir.2007).....	8
5	Thompson v. Mountain Peak Assocs., LLC , No. 2:05-cv-145, 2006 WL 1582126 (D. Nev. June 5, 2006).....	15
6	Trafficante v. Metro Life Ins. Co. , 409 U.S. 205 (1972).....	passim
7	United States v. Balistrieri , 981 F.2d 916 (7th Cir. 1992).....	14, 18, 44
8	United States v. Bleakley, et al. , Civ. No. 01-2226 JWJ (D. Kan.), Consent Order entered January 6, 2003, at ¶¶
9	V. A and B.....	38
10	United States v. Bowen , 172 F.3d 682 (9th Cir. 1999)	32
11	United States v. Canal Street Apartments, et al. , Civ. No. 01-115-S-BLW (D. Idaho), Consent Decree entered
12	September 12, 2002	38
13	United States v. City of Parma , 661 F.2d 562 (6th Cir. 1981)	12, 13
14	United States v. Deer Run Management Company, Inc., et al. , Civ. No.04-CV-5252 (JLH) (W.D. Ark.), Consent
15	Decree entered Nov. 24, 2004	37
16	United States v. ERGS, Inc., et al. CV-N-02-0615 DWH (VPC) (D. Nev.), consent order entered July 13, 2005.37
17	United States v. Makowsky Construction Company, et al. , Civ. No. 01-2069 D/Pha (W.D. Tenn.), Consent
18	Decree entered March 21, 2004.....	37
19	United States v. Taigen & Sons, Inc. , 303 F. Supp. 2d 1129 (D. Idaho 2003)	16
20	Walker v. City of Lakewood , 272 F.3d 1114 (9th Cir. 2001).....	25
21	Whitson v. Heilig -Meyers , 1995 U.D. Dist. LEXUS 4312 (N.D. Ala 1995)	35
22	Wilkerson v. Butler , 229 F.R.D. 166 (E.D. Cal. 2005)	42, 43
23	Statutes
24	28 U.S.C. § 2462.....	16
25	42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(e)(1).....	15
26	42 U.S.C. § 3601(f)(1).....	47
27	42 U.S.C. § 3602(d)	27
28	42 U.S.C. § 3602(i).....	5

1	42 U.S.C. § 3602(i)(1)	26, 31
2	42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(1)	7, 47
3	42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(2)	7
4	42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(3)(C)	7, 31, 40
5	42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(7)	7
6	42 U.S.C. § 3613(a)(1)	16, 27
7	42 U.S.C. § 3613(a)(1)(A)	15, 26, 31
8	42 U.S.C. § 3613(c)	43, 44
9	42 U.S.C. § 3613(d)	passim
10	Housing and Cmtly. Dev. Act of 1992, Pub. L. No. 102-550 § 905(a)(2), 106 Stat. 3672, 3868 (1992)	24
11	MD § IV.A.3	14

12 Rules

13	Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6)	4, 8
14	Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(7)	4, 9
15	Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e)	2, 4, 47
16	Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f)	5, 42
17	Fed. R. Civ. P. 19	4, 9, 32
18	Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(a)	32
19	Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(a)(2)	9
20	Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(d)	4
21	Fed. R. Civ. P. 23	6
22	Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)	34
23	Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(A)	34
24	Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B)	34
25	Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(d)(1)(B)	34
26	Fed. R. Civ. P. § 9:375	4, 42

27 Treatises

28

1	2 NEWBERG ON CLASS ACTIONS ("Newberg") § 4:47 at 341 (Alba Conte & Herbert Newberg eds., 2002)
2	(citing Hansberry v Lee , 311 U.S. 32, 61 S. Ct 115, 85 L. ED. 22, 132. 741 (1940).....	33, 34
3	Robert G. Schwemm, HOUSING DISCRIMINATION: LAW AND LITIGATION (Thompson West)(2007),
4	§25:10, at pp. 25-52 to 25-53.....	7, 44

5 Other Authorities

6	H. Rep. No. 100-711 1998	7, 8
---	--------------------------------	------

7

8

9

10

11

12

13

14

15

16

17

18 19 20

21

22

23

24

25

26

27

28

1 Plaintiffs National Fair Housing Alliance, Inc., Fair Housing of Marin, Inc., Fair Housing Napa
 2 Valley, Inc., Metro Fair Housing Services, Inc. and Fair Housing Continuum, Inc. submit this 3 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of their Consolidated Opposition to four separate 4 motions and memoranda filed by A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc., A.G. Spanos Development, Inc., A.G.
 5 Spanos Land Company, Inc., A.G. Spanos Management, Inc. and The Spanos Corporation (hereinafter,
 6 the “Spanos Defendants” or “Defendants”). These include (1) the Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff’s First
 7 Amended Complaint or, Alternatively, for Partial Dismissal of Plaintiff’s First Amended Complaint
 8 [Doc. 48; Memorandum, Doc. 48-3](hereinafter, “MD” or “Motion #1”); (2) the Motion for More 9 Definite Statement [Doc. 50; Memorandum, Doc 50-2](hereinafter, “MDS” or “Motion #2”); (3) the 10 Motion to Dismiss Plaintiffs’ First Amended Complaint for Failure to Join Necessary and/or 11 Indispensable Parties [Doc. 49; Memorandum, Doc. 49-3](hereinafter, “MDNIP” or “Motion #3”); and 12 (4) the Motion to Strike Various Claims for Relief [Doc. 52; Memorandum, Doc. 52-2](hereinafter, 13 “MS” or “Motion #4”).

14

15 I. INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

16 This litigation seeks remedies against one of the country’s largest apartment developers for 17 construction of tens of thousands of apartment units and their common areas that are not accessible to or 18 usable by people with disabilities. The primary remedy—an order requiring the Spanos Defendants to 19 make retrofits to the complexes that do not comply with the design and construction requirements of the 20 Fair Housing Act (hereinafter, “FHA” or “Act”—is readily achievable. The Spanos Defendants are in 21 the business of design, construction and development, so have the capacity to make the repairs the Court
 22 may require. Even though Defendants have sold many of the noncompliant properties, Plaintiffs have 23 proposed a straightforward means of joining current owners for purposes of effectuating any retrofits
 24 required of those Defendants. Plaintiffs’ First Amended Complaint (hereinafter, “FAC”) proposes 25 certification of a class of current owners of noncompliant Spanos-designed and Spanos-built properties,
 26 and through that device the Court can ensure sufficient access to the subject properties, both for purposes
 27 of surveying each property and for effectuating the necessary repairs and retrofits.

1 The complaint herein alleges that the Spanos Defendants have been engaged in a continuing
 2 violation since the 1990s, consisting of a pattern and practice of designing and building at least 82
 3 apartment complexes¹ in ten states—an average of more than five per year—that violate the design and 4 construction provisions of the FHA and are therefore made unavailable to wheelchair users and other
 5 people with mobility impairments. The development of these properties was continuous and seamless,
 6 one overlapping another, and the instances of noncompliance are identical or remarkably similar from 7 one property to another. Notwithstanding their sale of many of the properties to third parties, the lawsuit
 8 alleges that the Spanos Defendants remain liable for their noncompliant design and construction of at 9 least 82 properties.

10 The Spanos Defendants have acknowledged that as many as 19 properties encompassed in the 11 FAC were either built within two years of the filing of the complaint, or are still under construction.²
 12 Therefore, there can be no question that the statute of limitations concerning the last discriminatory act
 13 in the series did not even begin to run until after the filing of the complaint. This pattern and practice has 14

15 ¹ Plaintiffs acknowledge their error in listing Constellation Ranch in Fort Worth, Texas and Orion at 16 Roswell in Roswell, Georgia, in misnumbering the apartment complexes in the appendix to the FAC.
 17 Removing these from the purview of the FAC, however, still leaves 82 properties that are 18 unquestionably pled into this case. Surely, this does not rise to the level of being “so vague and 19 ambiguous that [Defendants] cannot reasonably prepare a response,” Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e), as suggested
 20 by Defendants. MDS 6-7. As modified by the foregoing, the FAC alleges violations of the FHA’s 21 design and construction requirements at 82 known properties, 34 of which were visited and/or tested by 22 Plaintiffs. The FAC also alleges that Defendants may have committed FHA design and construction
 23 violations at other properties currently unknown to Plaintiffs, FAC ¶ 45, but likely to be identified in 24 discovery.

25 ² Five of these still appeared to be under construction at the time the original complaint was filed.
 26 Defendants’ Request for Judicial Notice [Doc. 48-5](hereinafter, “RJN”), Exhibits 127, 128, 133, 154
 27 and 166. Defendants also concede that eight properties encompassed within the complaint were built 28 within two years of the filing of the complaint. MD 8:22-9:3; MS 8:4-12; MDIP 8:7-16. Plaintiffs are 29 perplexed about Defendants’ concession that the complex known as The Coventry at City View in Fort 30 Worth was built within two years prior to the filing of the complaint herein. MD 9:1-2; MS 8:10-11.
 31 Defendants’ own request for judicial notice suggests that the last certificate of occupancy was issued in 32 1996. RJN Exhibit 158. Finally, Defendants’ filings with this Court suggest that six additional 33 properties were completed within that period. RJN Exhibits 94 (Park Crossing in Fairfield, CA), 99
 34 (Ashgrove Place in Rancho Cordova, CA), 100 (Stone Canyon in Riverside, CA), 134A (Highpointe 35 Village, Phase II in Overland Park, KS), 153 (Auberry at Twin Creeks in Allen, TX) and 165 (Cheval in 36 Houston, TX).

1 continued until the filing of this lawsuit and thereafter, in that construction of noncompliant units was 2 ongoing.

3 Defendants virtually ignore controlling U.S. Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit precedent under the FHA, and 4 premise significant parts of several motions on a now-withdrawn Ninth Circuit panel opinion. Most notably, in
 5 their principal brief (on Motion #1), Defendants do not even mention Havens Realty Corp. v. Coleman, 455
 6 U.S. 363 (1982), which is controlling on two crucial issues in this case: the continuing violation theory that
 7 supports Plaintiffs' claims with respect to all 82 named properties, and standing to sue under the FHA. In 8 Motions #2 and #3, Defendants relegate Havens to footnotes without substantive consideration. This Court
 9 should not be misdirected by Defendants' ploy; Havens provides the rules of decision in this matter. Their 10 attempt to bury in string citations or footnotes the controlling cases of Fair Housing of Marin v. Combs, 285
 11 F.3d 899 (9th Cir. 2002) and Smith v. Pacific Prop. & Dev. Corp., 358 F.3d 1097 (9th Cir. 2004) leads 12 Defendants to the wrong conclusion with respect to what Plaintiffs must demonstrate to support their standing 13 to sue under the FHA.

14 Finally, as the Spanos Defendants were forced to acknowledge recently,³ the panel decision in 15 Garcia v. Brockway, 503 F.3d 1092 (9th Cir. 2007) has, pending en banc review, been withdrawn, and 16 "shall not be cited as precedent by or to any court of the Ninth Circuit." Garcia v. Brockway, ___ F.3d
 17 ___, 2008 WL 90233 (9th Cir. Jan. 7, 2008). That action leaves Defendants' statute of limitations
 18 argument virtually insupportable.

19 Defendants have adopted a litigation strategy that mirrors their design and construction practices:
 20 their four motions contain similar and repeated arguments that overlap one another and contain the same
 21 fundamental flaws. In this Consolidated Opposition, Plaintiffs first distill the arguments presented in the 22 motions and thereafter to rebut them.

23 As best Plaintiffs can discern, the Spanos motions assert the following grounds for dismissal or 24 other relief:

- 25 1) Plaintiffs' claims are time-barred as to all but eight properties. (MD 9-11; MS 7-8; MDIP 26 8:7-16)

27
 28³ Defendants' Notice of Change in Status of Authority Cited [Doc. 70] at 1-2.
 3

- 1 2) Plaintiffs lack standing to sue, in part because they are not “aggrieved persons” as defined
- 2 in the FHA. (MD 11-18, 19-25; MDS 7-13; MS 8-11)
- 3 3) Plaintiffs have failed to state a claim because the complaint does not allege that the
- 4 Spanos Defendants denied, or could deny, a rental to anyone. (MD 18-19; MS 6-7)
- 5 4) Plaintiffs have failed to properly join as “necessary and/or indispensable parties” all of
- 6 the current owners, renters and lenders of the apartment complexes named in the
- 7 complaint. (MDIP 5-9; MS 4-6)⁴

8 While the legal standards applicable to the various motions may differ slightly (as articulated
 9 immediately below and in Section IV.A through IV.C), the outcome is the same: none of the grounds
 10 supporting the motions is sufficient and each must be denied. At this very early stage in the litigation,
 11 prior to discovery and any Answer being filed, the Court’s attention must be focused on the allegations
 12 of the First Amended Complaint (hereinafter, “FAC”) itself. For purposes of Motion #1, brought under 13 Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6), those allegations must be assumed to be true. In order to prevail on Motion #2, 14 the Spanos Defendants must show that the FAC is “so vague or ambiguous that [they] cannot reasonably 15 prepare a response.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e).

16 Motion #3 is brought under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(7) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 19. The latter rule now
 17 contains an “exception for class actions,” Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(d), thereby indicating that the concerns
 18 commonly implicated with respect to required and/or indispensable parties are mitigated where a 19 plaintiff or defendant class action is present. Through the FAC, Plaintiffs seek to join current owners of 20 the 82 properties so that they may be brought before the Court not for purposes of establishing their 21 liability, but to ensure that they can be ordered to permit any retrofitting the Court may direct the Spanos
 22 Defendants to undertake.

23 Despite the fact that such motions “are generally disfavored,” Bureerong v. Uvawas, 922 F.
 24 Supp. 1450, 1479 (C.D. Cal. 1996)(quoting from Schwarzer, et al., Federal Civil Procedure § 9:375

26 ⁴ On these and other grounds, the Spanos Defendants also move to strike various claims for damages and 27 injunctive relief. To the extent the motion to strike is based on one of the four substantive claims 28 outlined above, it will be discussed there. Miscellaneous grounds will be discussed in section IV.E, infra.

1 (citing Colaprico v. Sun Microsystems, Inc., 758 F. Supp. 1335, 1339 (N.D.Cal.1991)), the Spanos
 2 Defendants have also filed a motion to strike certain of the FAC's claims pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.
 3 12(f). Because of "the limited importance of pleadings in federal practice," id., courts should grant a 4 motion to strike elements of a complaint only when the moving party can demonstrate that they are 5 "redundant, immaterial, impertinent or scandalous...." Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f).

6 Plaintiffs now turn to a summary of their argument with respect to the four substantive grounds
 7 for the motions. First, the Spanos Defendants are simply wrong to assert that any portion of this 8 litigation is barred by the statute of limitations. MD 9-11, MS 7-8; MDIP 8:7-16. When seen in the 9 proper context—that of a continuing violation by the Spanos Defendants over a period of several years,
 10 manifesting itself in a pattern and practice of designing and building inaccessible housing units and 11 common areas in at least 82 apartment complexes—it is clear that no part of this action is time-barred.
 12 Under Havens, 455 U.S. 363, Plaintiffs' claims are timely if filed within two years of "the last asserted
 13 occurrence of that practice." Id. at 380-81. As outlined more fully in Section IV.A., below, the FAC
 14 pleads a continuing violation. FAC ¶¶49, 50, 74, 84, and Defendants concede that at least 19 complexes
 15 were constructed within the limitations period. See n.2, supra; MD 8:22-9:3; MS 8:4-12; MDIP 8:7-16.
 16 Under Rule 12(b) (6), these allegations and concessions must be assumed to be true. Therefore, those 17 portions of Motions #1, #2 and #3 that rely upon the defense of the statute of limitations must be denied.

18 Second, the Spanos Defendants contend that Plaintiffs lack standing to sue under the FHA or to 19 seek certain relief authorized by the FHA. MD 11-18, 19-25; MDS 7-13; MS 8-11. But as demonstrated
 20 in Section IV.B., below, Plaintiffs are clearly "aggrieved persons" within the meaning of 42 U.S.C. §
 21 3602(i), and have sufficiently pled facts to establish their standing to sue under the FHA. Defendants'
 22 cramped and illogical view of standing—that Plaintiffs are required to show that the Spanos Defendants
 23 denied rental housing to particular individuals with disabilities and to show that Plaintiffs either belong
 24 to, or are suing on behalf of members of, an FHA protected class (MD 12-16, 18-25; MDS 7-13; MS 8-25 11)—has been rejected repeatedly by the U.S. Supreme Court and the Ninth Circuit. Both Courts have 26 held that private fair housing organizations can establish standing in their own right by showing 27 diversion of their resources to counteract discrimination and by frustration of their missions to advance
 28

1 fair housing choice. See, e.g., Havens, 455 U.S. at XXX; Fair Hous. of Marin, 285 F.3d 899; Pacific
 2 Properties, 358 F.3d 1097.

3 The Spanos Defendants next argue that the FAC should be dismissed pursuant to Rule 12(b)(7)
 4 for failure to join as parties under Rule 19 all current owners of the apartment complexes in issue (there
 5 are at least 82 such complexes), all current tenants of those complexes (there are estimated to be 22,000
 6 apartments in these complexes) and all lenders whose loans are secured by these complexes. Should this 7 Court grant injunctive relief to require the Spanos Defendants to bring noncompliant properties into 8 FHA-accessible condition, Plaintiffs agree that current owners of any such properties may be required
 9 for purposes of effectuating that relief. At that point it will be important to ensure that the Spanos
 10 Defendants are permitted to come onto the properties to make the necessary retrofits.

11 Because Plaintiffs do not seek to hold current owners liable for noncompliance with the FHA's
 12 design and construction accessibility requirements, Plaintiffs seek to add current owners to this litigation
 13 for purposes of effectuating relief only. Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23, Plaintiffs have named two 14 putative defendant class representatives—Knickerbocker Properties, Inc. XXXVIII (hereinafter, 15 "Knickerbocker") and Highpointe Village, L.P. (hereinafter, "Highpointe"). The proper time to gauge
 16 their "adequacy" under Rule 23 is on the forthcoming motion for class certification, not at this 17 preliminary stage of the litigation, when the Rule 23 issues have not been briefed. As explained further
 18 in Section IV.C., below, the Court should decline Defendants' invitation to engage in this inquiry until a 19 certification motion has been filed and the issue is fully briefed.

20 In addition, the Spanos Defendants have failed to show that (1) the joinder of owners is infeasible
 21 through a putative class of owner defendants and the named class representatives as set forth in its FAC
 22 or (2) that joinder of tenants and lenders is required. For these reasons as well, their Rule 12(b)(7)
 23 motion should be denied.

24 Finally, the Spanos Defendants employ a motion to strike in an attempt to eliminate claims for 25 damages and injunctive relief, and to obtain a ruling that the statute of limitations bars the Court's 26 consideration of certain properties. Beyond being the wrong procedural mechanism, the motion to strike
 27 must fail because the FAC adequately pleads that Plaintiffs are "aggrieved persons" under the FHA, that 28 Defendants have caused the harm complained of, and the elements necessary to support damages and

1 injunctive relief. Furthermore, Plaintiffs have also adequately pled a continuing violation encompassing
 2 all 82 properties. At this stage of the litigation, that is all that is required.

3

4 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

5 Collectively, the Spanos Defendants represent the fifth-largest apartment development enterprise
 6 in the country. FAC ¶ 2. Since 1960, Defendants have built more than 120,000 apartments in over 400
 7 complexes across the country. Id. Beginning in March 1991, the FHA required those who designed and 8 built such complexes to incorporate certain basic features to ensure that they were “accessible to and 9 usable by [people with disabilities].” H.Rpt. 100-711, reprinted at 1988 U.S.C.C.A.N. 2173, 2187.
 10 Sophisticated entities like the Defendants, who have been steeped in the business of real estate and 11 development for decades, are presumed to know the mandates of the FHA. See generally, Robert G.
 12 Schwemm, HOUSING DISCRIMINATION: LAW AND LITIGATION (Thompson West)(2007), §
 13 25:10, at pp. 25-52 to 25-53.

14 This litigation commenced on June 20, 2007, and was based on careful investigations of 15 Defendants operations and visits to 34 apartment complexes that Defendants had designed and built.
 16 FAC ¶ 3. The Spanos Defendants filed a series of motions to dismiss and for other relief on August 15,
 17 2007 [Docs. 15-19]; these were withdrawn on September 12, 2007. Plaintiffs filed their First Amended
 18 Complaint (“FAC”) on October 12, 2007, adding The Spanos Corporation as a party and naming a 19 defendant class consisting of all current owners of FHA-noncompliant apartment complexes designed 20 and built by the Spanos Defendants. FAC ¶¶ 3 0, 32. Plaintiffs named Knickerbocker and Highpointe as 21 defendant class representatives. Id. On December 21, 2007, the Spanos Defendants filed a request for 22 judicial notice [Doc. 51] and renewed their previous motions [Docs. 48, 49, 50 and 52]. It is to these 23 motions that this Consolidated Opposition responds.

24 The FAC alleges that the Spanos Defendants have engaged in a continuing pattern and practice
 25 of designing and building “covered multifamily dwellings,” 42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(7), in a fashion to make 26 them inaccessible to people with disabilities, in violation of 42 U.S.C. §§ 3604(f)(1), 3604(f)(2) and 27 3604(f)(3)(C). FAC ¶¶ 83, 84. Through on-site investigations at 34 apartment complexes, Plaintiffs 28 documented violations of the design and construction requirements of the FHA. ¶¶ 42, 44, 45. These

1 violations render all or part of these complexes inaccessible to and unusable by people with mobility
 2 impairments. FAC ¶¶ 46, 47. Because at least 47 other untested properties share common design
 3 features with the tested properties, Plaintiffs have reason to believe that the untested properties may also 4 violate the FHA's design and construction requirements. FAC ¶ 6.

5 Based on the Spanos Defendants' own Request for Judicial Notice [Doc. 51], it is clear that they
 6 have been continuously involved in the design, development and construction of covered multifamily
 7 dwellings for several decades. Exhibit No. 1 to this consolidated opposition is a simple table prepared
 8 by Plaintiffs to assist the Court in understanding the overlap between these developments. Inasmuch as 9 multifamily development is a complicated process requiring years of planning and execution at each site,
 10 the Court can see from Exhibit No. 1 that, from at least 1995 to the present day, the Spanos Defendants
 11 must have been involved in overlapping development at multiple sites, and that completion of one 12 Spanos property and commencement of another must have been virtually seamless in time. And, as the 13 pleadings make clear, identical or very similar violations are noted in apartment complex across the 14 Spanos portfolio. FAC ¶¶ 45-52.

15 The Defendants' noncompliance with the FHA is not a trivial matter. Inaccessibility has serious
 16 and significant consequences for people with disabilities. FAC ¶ 8. Not least among these is the extent 17 to which inaccessible housing frustrates the national objective of integrating people with disabilities into 18 "the American mainstream." H.Rep. 100-711, reprinted at 1988 U.S.C.C.A.N. 2173, 2179.
 19

20 III. LEGAL STANDARD

21 As this Court has recognized, a claim may be dismissed under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) only "if it
 22 does not 'state a claim upon which relief can be granted.' ... When considering a motion to dismiss under 23 Rule 12(b)(6), the plaintiff's complaint is liberally construed and all well-pleaded facts are taken as true.
 24 Dion, LLC v. Infotek Wireless, Inc., 2007 WL 3231738 (N.D.Cal. Oct. 30, 2007), quoting from Syverson
 25 v. IBM Corp., 472 F.3d 1072, 1075 (9th Cir.2007).

26 Furthermore, "Federal rule of Civil Procedure 12(e) states that '[i]f a pleading to which a 27 responsive pleading is permitted is so vague or ambiguous that a party cannot reasonably be required to 28 frame a responsive pleading, the party may move for a more definite statement before interposing a

1 responsive pleading.' Under Rule 12(f), '[u]pon motion made by a party before responding to a pleading
 2 ... the court may order stricken from any pleading any insufficient defense or any redundant, immaterial,
 3 impertinent, or scandalous matter.' Id.

4 A motion brought under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(7) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 19 is subjected to a two-
 5 stage inquiry. The first question is whether a party is "required," that is, whether the party "should be 6 joined ... [because] 'disposition of the action in the person's absence may ... as a practical matter impair
 7 or impede [her] ability to protect that interest.'" Hartog v. Jots, Inc., 2004 WL 2600280 (N.D.Cal. Nov.
 8 12, 2004), at *4, quoting from Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(a)(2). If the answer to the first question is yes, the 9 party should be joined, if feasible. If joinder is not feasible, then the court must examine four factors to 10 determine whether the required party is also "indispensable," that is, whether the litigation can continue,
 11 in good conscience, without participation of that party. *Id.*⁵

12 As explained in Section IV., below, the Spanos Defendants have not carried their burdens under 13 these standards with respect to any of the four motions now pending before the Court.

14 15 IV. ANALYSIS

16 The A.G. Spanos Defendants have maintained a pattern and practice of designing and 17 constructing apartment buildings in violation of the FHA's accessibility requirements. See, e.g., FAC ¶¶
 18 4-6, 49-50, 82-84. Defendants have implemented this pattern and practice on at least 82 occasions from 19 approximately 1991 through the present. Id. at ¶¶ 3-6. They have done so by designing and constructing 20 at least 82 apartment complexes that do not comply with the FHA's requirements. Id. At least 19 of 21 these complexes have not yet been completed or were completed in the two years before this suit was 22 filed, i.e., since June 20, 2005. See n.2, supra. Defendants' pattern and practice constitutes a continuing
 23

24
 25
 26
 27
 28

⁵ The factors to be considered in this determination are: (1) to what extent a judgment rendered in the absence of such a party might be prejudicial to him or her or to those already parties; (2) the extent to which, by protective provisions in the judgment, by the shaping of relief, or other measures, the prejudice can be lessened or avoided; (3) whether a judgment rendered in the party's absence will be adequate; and (4), whether Plaintiff will have an adequate remedy if the action is dismissed for nonjoinder.

1 violation of the FHA and Plaintiffs' claims were timely because they were filed within two years of the 2 last occurrence of that practice. Havens, 455 U.S. at 380-81.

3 Rather than acknowledging that Havens is controlling on the continuing violation issue,
 4 Defendants spend just one paragraph explaining why the Court should rely on Nat'l R.R. Passenger
 5 Corp. v. Morgan, 536 U.S. 101, 115 n.16 (2002), MD at 11. That reliance would be misplaced because 6 the Supreme Court in Morgan expressly said it "ha[d] no occasion here to consider the timely filing
 7 question with respect to 'pattern-or-practice' claims brought by private litigants as none are at issue
 8 here." Id. at 115, n.9. Furthermore, Morgan considered the statute of limitations under Title VII of the 9 Civil Rights Act which, by its terms, is more restrictive than the limitations provision under the FHA.
 10 Finally, Morgan involved only a single plaintiff alleging a series of discrete acts of discrimination
 11 outside the statute of limitations. Here, Plaintiffs plead and can demonstrate, a continuous course of 12 conduct over more than a decade, with instances of discrimination that are identical or very similar in as 13 many as 82 apartment complexes. Havens, which analyzed the FHA and specifically addressed a 14 repetitive practice, controls here. Morgan does not.

15 Defendants devote the rest of their statute of limitations objection to three arguments that are 16 entirely academic. These arguments concern how the FHA's statute of limitations applies when only 17 one apartment complex is at issue, whether the discovery rule applies to the statute of limitations, and 18 whether the limitations period may be equitably tolled. There is no need for the Court to consider these 19 arguments because Plaintiffs' FHA claims are timely under Havens. Moreover, each of these arguments
 20 rests on Garcia, 503 F.3d 1092, which has been accepted for en banc rehearing, see Garcia, ____ F.3d
 21 ____, 2008 WL 90233. In the interim, the Ninth Circuit has ordered that "[t]he three-judge panel opinion 22 shall not be cited as precedent by or to any court of the Ninth Circuit."⁶ Id.

23

24

25

26

27 ⁶ The A.G. Spanos Defendants acknowledge that Garcia was accepted for en banc rehearing after 28 their opening brief was filed. See Notification of Change in Status of Authority Cited (Docket No. 70)
 (Feb. 6, 2008).

1 A. PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE TIMELY UNDER HAVENS REALTY CORP. V. COLEMAN
 2 BECAUSE THE A.G. SPANOS DEFENDANTS HAVE ENGAGED IN AN UNLAWFUL
 3 PATTERN AND PRACTICE CONTINUING INTO THE LIMITATIONS PERIOD

4 1. Defendants' Design and Construction Of All 82 Or More Apartment
 5 Complexes Constitutes A Continuing Violation Under Havens

6 The analysis of a continuing violation under the FHA is controlled by Havens. The Havens
 7 plaintiffs alleged that a realty company, which owned and operated two apartment complexes,
 8 maintained a continuing practice of steering African-American apartment seekers away from those 9 complexes by giving them false information about the availability of units. Havens, 455 U.S. at 366.
 10 The Supreme Court found that acts of steering that occurred outside the limitations period were 11 actionable because plaintiffs challenged “a continuing violation manifested in a number of incidents —
 12 including at least one . . . that is asserted to have occurred within the [limitations] period.” Id. at 381.
 13 Havens is the Supreme Court’s sole opinion examining the operation of the FHA’s statute of limitations 14 provision.

15 The Havens Court emphasized that applying the provision broadly was important to effectuating
 16 the important national policy embodied in the FHA. The Court explained that a “wooden application” of 17 the limitations provision that viewed each act of steering in isolation would “undermine[] the broad 18 remedial intent of Congress embodied in the Act.” Id. at 380 (citations omitted). Indeed, the Court has 19 long recognized that the Act must be given “a generous construction” because it embodies a “policy of 20 the United States that Congress considered to be of the highest priority.” Trafficante v. Metro Life Ins.
 21 Co., 409 U.S. 205, 209, 212 (1972) (citation omitted); see also City of Edmonds v. Oxford House, 514
 22 U.S. 725, 731 (1995) (reaffirming Trafficante’s recognition of the Act’s “broad and inclusive compass” 23 and its entitlement to a “generous construction”).

24 In Silver State Fair Housing Council, Inc. v. ERGS, Inc., 362 F. Supp. 2d 1218 (D. Nev. 2005)
 25 (“ERGS”), Havens was applied to facts that are strikingly similar to those presented here. In ERGS, a 26 developer built one housing complex between 1990 and 1996, and was in process of building another
 27 when a lawsuit was filed in 2002 alleging FHA design and construction violations at both. See id. at 28 1219 (incorporating by reference factual background from Order dated Mar. 8, 2005, at 2-3 (copy 29 attached as Exhibit No. 2)). The court noted that “the completion of the [first] development and the beginning of the [second] development were seamless in time. In addition, these were the only properties developed by defendant during the relevant time frame. Plaintiff alleges that each complex had the same or similar alleged FHA violations.” Id. at 1220-21. Relying on Havens, the court held that “the design and construction of multiple FHA-violating housing developments continuing into the limitations period can indeed constitute [] a ‘practice’” “that can ensnare discriminatory occurrences that took place outside of the two-year statute of limitations.” Id. at 1221-22. The developer’s summary judgment motion on statute of limitations grounds was, accordingly, denied “because a triable issue of fact exists as to the allegations that the [] claims were part of a practice of FHA violations that continued into the limitations period.” Id. at 1222. The court quoted Havens in specifically referencing the “broad remedial intent of [C]ongress.” Id. at 1221.

On facts similar to those in the case at bar, the continuing violation doctrine was also held applicable in Memphis Center for Independent Living v. Makowsky Construction Co., No. 01-2069 (July 29, 2003 W.D. Tenn.) (“MCIL”) (copy attached as Exhibit No. 3). In MCIL, the defendant was a general contractor that built three apartment complexes that allegedly violated the FHA’s design and construction requirements. Id. at 2. Two were completed more than two years before the suit was filed, but the third was completed only 16 months earlier. Id. Beginning with a discussion of Havens, the court held the suit timely as to all three complexes and denied the contractor’s summary judgment motion. Id. at 4-6.

Courts have also routinely applied Havens and the continuing violation doctrine in many other kinds of FHA cases. In Inland Mediation Board v. City of Pomona, 158 F. Supp. 2d 1120 (C.D. Cal. 2001), for example, the court applied the doctrine to various acts of the head of a group of landlords and a city allegedly aimed at reducing the number of African-American tenants in a neighborhood. In United States v. City of Parma, 661 F.2d 562 (6th Cir. 1981), the Sixth Circuit applied the doctrine to a municipal government’s acts and omissions, even though they were quite different and distinct from each other, because they were part of a single practice of excluding African Americans from residing in the city and maintaining its segregated “character.”⁷ The D.C. Circuit held the doctrine applicable to an

⁷ The acts constituting the continuing violation in City of Parma were: (1) the rejection of a fair housing resolution; (2) the consistent refusal to sign a cooperative agreement with a housing authority; (3) the

1 advertising agency that ran ads depicting white models exclusively, even though the ads were for
 2 different housing developments. See Spann v. Colonial Village, Inc., 899 F.2d 24, 34-35 (D.C. Cir.
 3 1990) (R. B. Ginsburg, J.); Spann v. Colonial Village, Inc., 662 F. Supp. 541, 543 (D.D.C. 1987) (lower
 4 court opinion describing agency's actions).⁸

5 Under Havens and its progeny, Plaintiffs' FHA claims are plainly addressed to a single pattern
 6 and practice that constitutes a continuing violation, and Plaintiffs have pled sufficient facts to make out
 7 claims under the FHA. Defendants have designed and constructed, or are currently in the process of 8 designing and constructing, at least 82 apartment complexes in violation of the FHA's accessibility
 9 requirements. Defendants have been engaged in this process continuously, or nearly continuously, since 10 1991 when the FHA's design and construction requirements became effective. See, e.g., FAC ¶¶ 3-7.
 11 The violations are found at every apartment complex that Plaintiffs are aware of that was built by the 12 A.G. Spanos Defendants during this period. See, e.g., id. ¶¶ 3-7, 49-50. The FHA violations are the 13 same or exceedingly similar at each of the subject properties. See id. ¶¶ 4, 6, 8, 45-52, 54-71.
 14 Furthermore, the Spanos Defendants concede that at least 19 of the apartment complexes alleged to have 15 design and construction violations were built within the two-year statute of limitations period.⁹
 16 Applying Havens, ERGS and MCIL, this is more than enough to support application of the continuing 17 violation doctrine to all 82 (or more) of Defendants' discriminatory acts.

18
 19
 20 adamant and long-standing opposition to any form of public or low-income housing; (4) the denial of a 21 building permit for a low-income housing development (5) the passage of a 35-foot height restriction 22 ordinance; (6) the passage of an ordinance requiring voter approval for low-income housing; and (7) the 23 refusal to submit an adequate housing assistance plan with its Community Block Development Grant
 24 application. City of Parma, 661 F.2d at 565-68, 570.

25 ⁸ See also Fair Housing Council, Inc. v. Village of Olde St. Andrews, Inc., 210 Fed. Appx. 469, 481 (6th Cir. 2006), cert. denied sub nom WKB Associates, Inc. v. Fair Housing Council, Inc., 128 S.Ct.
 880, 76 USLW 3189, 76 USLW 3335, 76 USLW 3347 (U.S. Jan 07, 2008) (NO. 07-421) ("where the plaintiff can show that the owner of several housing developments engaged in a continuous policy or practice with regard to the noncompliant design and construction of each of the developments, the continuing violation doctrine may toll the running of the limitations period until the last unit of all the implicated developments is sold").

26
 27
 28 ⁹ See n. 2, supra.

1 Accordingly, Plaintiffs' claims are timely with respect to the complexes completed more than 2 two years before the case was filed because they were designed and constructed pursuant to a pattern and 3 practice, continuing into the limitations period, of erecting apartments in violation of the FHA's design
 4 and construction requirements. See Havens, 455 U.S. at 380-81 ("where a plaintiff, pursuant to the
 5 FHA, challenges not just one incident of conduct violative of the Act, but an unlawful practice that
 6 continues into the limitations period, the complaint is timely when it is filed within [2 years] of the last 7 asserted occurrence of that practice"). That is, at least 82 complexes are properly before the Court.

8 2. Defendants' Reliance On Nat'l R.R. Passenger Corp. v. Morgan Is Misplaced

9 Ignoring Havens entirely, Defendants rely exclusively on Morgan to assert that their unlawful 10 design and construction of apartments within the limitations period is irrelevant to the timeliness of 11 claims regarding their similarly unlawful design and construction of older apartments. See MD §
 12 IV.A.3. But Morgan, an employment case involving a single plaintiff suing for race discrimination,
 13 merely held that Title VII and its applicable statute of limitations required the Supreme Court to consider
 14 the plaintiff's allegations as constituting a series of discrete and unrelated acts, most of which occurred
 15 beyond the limitations period and were, therefore, no longer actionable. The Court merely held that a 16 Title VII plaintiff may not string together a series of such discrete acts to revive time-barred claims.
 17 Morgan is inapposite to the case at bar for two fundamental reasons.

18 First, the Supreme Court expressly stated in Morgan that it was not addressing "the timely filing
 19 question with respect to 'pattern-or-practice' claims brought by private litigants as none are at issue
 20 here." 536 U.S. 101 at 115 n.9. Yet that is precisely the type of claim raised in this case. Plaintiffs 21 allege a pattern or practice by the Spanos Defendants of committing the same or similar violations of the 22 FHA design and construction requirements, year after year, at dozens of apartment buildings.¹⁰

23
 24
 25 ¹⁰ On a related note, the existence of an unlawful pattern or practice under the FHA is a question of 26 fact, see, e.g., United States v. Balistrieri, 981 F.2d 916, 930 (7th Cir. 1993), and therefore inappropriate 27 for resolution on a motion to dismiss. Cf. Block v. City of Los Angeles, 253 F.3d 410, 422 (9th Cir.
 28 2001) (denying summary judgment on Fair Labor Standards Act claim because a "reasonable factfinder" could find no "pattern or practice of violations").

1 Second, Morgan was an employment discrimination case and turned on the specific limitations
 2 language in Title VII's administrative charge filing provision, which is markedly different from the
 3 FHA's statute of limitations. Compare 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(e)(1) (Title VII) with 42 U.S.C. §
 4 3613(a)(1) (FHA); see Morgan, 536 U.S. at 109 (parsing Title VII provision and identifying its "critical"
 5 words). Whereas Title VII considers only when an unlawful employment practice "occurred," the FHA
 6 looks to the "occurrence or the termination" of a discriminatory housing practice. See 42 U.S.C. §
 7 2000e-5(e)(1); 42 U.S.C. § 3613(a)(1)(A). It is a basic rule of statutory construction that each word
 8 should be given effect. See, e.g., Schneider v. Chertoff, 450 F.3d 944, 954 (9th Cir. 2006). Defendants,
 9 however, effectively ask the Court to ignore the additional words included by Congress in the FHA's
 10 limitations provision by ignoring the well-pled fact that Defendants' unlawful practice did not terminate 11 before the limitations period. Implicitly recognizing the difference between Title VII and the FHA, the 12 Court in Morgan did not even mention Havens; it certainly did not displace Havens in any respect, as a 13 reading of Defendants' brief would suggest. Even Defendants themselves inadvertently demonstrate that 14 the statutes of limitations under the FHA and Title VII are markedly different. Morgan affirmed that 15 equitable tolling applies to the limitations period under Title VII, see 536 U.S. at 113, yet Defendants 16 assert that equitable tolling does not apply under the FHA, see MD at 11.

17 Accordingly, Havens controls here, not Morgan.

18 3. There Is No Reason To Address Defendants' Remaining Arguments Which, In Any 19 Event, Are Based On A Case That The Ninth Circuit Is Rehearing En Banc

20 Inasmuch as Garcia is no longer a valid precedent, Plaintiff's FHA claims against the movants
 21 will be timely regardless of the application of Havens and ERGS.¹¹ Neither does the Court need to 22 consider three additional arguments raised by the Spanos Defendants: (1) that the statute of limitations
 23 expires two years after a certificate of occupancy is issued for the last unit in a development; (2) that this
 24 rule is not altered by the discovery rule; and (3) that this rule is not subject to equitable tolling.

25
 26
 27 ¹¹ The third, equitable tolling, would not seem to be relevant here, unless the en banc court's 28 explanation of equitable tolling differs from the panel's explanation.

1 Plaintiffs do not rely on any of these arguments to establish the timeliness of their claims. Each
 2 was considered by the Ninth Circuit panel in Garcia, but Garcia did not consider the application of the 3 continuing violation doctrine to serial violations at multiple developments. Here, unlike Garcia, more
 4 than 80 developments are involved and Defendants concede that the certificates of occupancy for eight
 5 were issued within the limitations period or have yet to be issued. Even if Defendants were correct as to 6 all three issues, then, it would not make any difference because Plaintiffs' claims involve multiple 7 complexes and are timely based on Havens and ERGS, as discussed above.

8 The other three cases Defendants cite in support of these arguments are as unhelpful to their
 9 motion as Garcia. Like Garcia, Thompson v. Mountain Peak Assocs., LLC, No. 2:05-cv-145, 2006 WL
 10 1582126 (D. Nev. June 5, 2006), and United States v. Taigen & Sons, Inc., 303 F. Supp. 2d 1129 (D.
 11 Idaho 2003), each involved only one housing development. Moreover, in Taigen & Sons, the Magistrate
 12 Judge simply did not consider the FHA's statute of limitations, because that case was brought not by a
 13 private litigant, but by the U.S. Department of Justice.¹² Finally, in Moseke v. Miller & Smith, Inc., 202
 14 F. Supp. 2d 492, 501 (E.D. Va. 2002), the Defendants responsible for multiple developments agreed
 15 with Plaintiffs' position here. They "proffer[ed] that the statute of limitations expired two years after the 16 completion of the last condominium development . . ." Id. at 501 (emphasis added); see id. at 507
 17 (statute of limitations bars claims because "[t]he last condominium development at issue in this matter 18 was constructed more than two years before this suit commenced").

19 Plaintiffs' claims are therefore timely with respect to all the apartment complexes designed and 20 constructed by the A.G. Spanos Defendants addressed in the First Amended Complaint.

21 B. PLAINTIFFS' ALLEGATIONS MEET THE SUPREME COURT'S REQUIREMENTS
 22 FOR ESTABLISHING ORGANIZATIONAL STANDING UNDER THE FAIR HOUSING
 23 ACT

24 Defendants argue that allegations of the FAC fail to establish that Plaintiffs have standing to 25
 26
 27

28 ¹² The limitations period in 42 U.S.C. § 3613(a)(1) is specific to private actions under the FHA, but the 29 Magistrate Judge addressed 28 U.S.C. § 2462, which applies generally to government-initiated actions
 30 seeking civil penalties. See id. at 1143-44. The District Court Judge did not address either provision.

1 pursue their claims under the FHA.¹³ There is simply no basis for this assertion. Plaintiffs' allegations
 2 precisely track the form of allegations that have been consistently and repeatedly held as sufficient to 3 establish the standing of a fair housing organization under the FHA.

4 In enacting the FHA, Congress intended to define standing as broadly as permitted by Article III
 5 of the Constitution. Trafficante, 409 U.S. at 211. As a result, the sole requirement for standing "is 6 Article III minima of injury in fact—that the plaintiff allege that as a result of the defendant's actions he
 7 suffered a 'distinct and palpable injury.'" Havens 455 U.S. at 372. To establish standing under Article
 8 III of the Constitution, a plaintiff must show:

9 it has suffered an 'injury in fact' that is (a) concrete and particularized and 10 (b) actual and imminent, not conjectural or hypothetical; (2) the injury is 11 fairly traceable to the challenged action of the defendant; and (3) it is 12 likely, as opposed to merely speculative, that the injury will be redressed by a favorable decision.

13 Friends of the Earth v. Laidlaw Envtl. Serv., 528 U.S. 167, 180-81 (2000).

14 In Havens, the Supreme Court held that a private fair housing organization could establish 15 standing under these Article III requirements. Havens, 455 U.S. at 363. As mentioned in Section
 16 IV.A.1., above, the plaintiffs in Havens alleged that a realty company maintained a continuing practice
 17 of "steering" African-American apartment seekers away from its two apartment complexes by giving 18 them false information about the availability of units. Id. at 366. The organizational plaintiff in the 19 case—Housing Opportunities Made Equal of Richmond ("HOME")—stated in its complaint that it had 20 "been frustrated by defendant's racial steering practices in its efforts to assist equal access to housing
 21 through counseling and other referral services . . . [and] had to devote significant resources to identify 22 and counteract the defendants' racially discriminatory steering practices." Id. at 379 (citation and
 23

24 ¹³ Defendants' challenges to Plaintiffs' standing appears repeatedly in Defendants' motions. See Memo.
 25 In Support of Spanos Defendants' Motion to Dismiss Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint [Doc. 48-3] at 19-23; Memo. In Support of Spanos Defendants' Motion for More Definite Statement [Doc. 50-2] at 7-14; Memo. In Support of Spanos Defendants' Motion to Strike Various Claims for Relief [Doc. No. 52-2] at 2-4, 8-11; Memo. In Support of Defendant Highpointe Village's Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 60] at 14-22. Defendants' arguments related to standing in these various motions largely repeat 26 themselves. Plaintiffs' will respond to all Defendants' arguments in each of their motions in this one 27 consolidated response.
 28

1 quotation marks omitted). The Supreme Court, in denying the Havens defendants' motion to dismiss the 2 organization for a lack of standing concluded that:

3 [i]f, as broadly alleged, petitioners' steering practices have perceptibly
 4 impaired HOME's ability to provide counseling and referral services for 5 low- and moderate-income home-seekers, there can be no question that the 6 organization has suffered injury in fact. Such concrete and demonstrable 7 injury to the organization's activities – with the consequent drain on the organization's resources – constitutes far more than simply a setback to the organization's abstract social interests.

8 Id. (citation omitted).

9 The Ninth Circuit, and all other Circuits addressing the issue, have interpreted Havens as 10 establishing that "an organization may satisfy the Article III requirement of injury in fact if it can 11 demonstrate: (1) frustration of its organizational mission; and (2) diversion of its resources to combat the 12 particular housing discrimination in question. Smith v. Pacific Properties and Development Corp., 358
 13 F.3d 1097, 1105 (9th Cir. 2004); see also Fair Hous. of Marin, 285 F.3d at 905; Alexander v. Riga, 208
 14 F.3d 419, 427 n.4 (3d Cir. 2000); Ragin v. Harry Macklowe Real Estate Co., 6 F.3d 898, 905 (2d Cir.
 15 1993); City of Chicago v. Matchmaker Real Estate Sales Center, Inc., 982 F.2d 1086 (7th Cir. 1992);
 16 United States v. Balistreri, 981 F.2d 916 (7th Cir. 1992); Home v. The Cincinnati Enquirer, 943 F.2d 17 644, 646 (6th Cir. 1991); Spann v. Colonial Village, Inc., 899 F.2d 24, 27-31 (D.C. Cir. 1990), cert.
 18 denied, 498 U.S. 980 (1990); Heights Community Congress v. Hilltop Realty, Inc., 774 F.2d 135, 138-39
 19 (6th Cir. 1985), cert. denied, 475 U.S. 1019 (1986); Gresham v. Windrush Partners, Ltd., 730 F.2d
 20 1417, 1420-21 (11th Cir. 1984); Parkview Heights Corp. v. City of Black, 467 F.2d 1208, 1212-14 (8th
 21 Cir. 1972); Equal Rights Center v. Equity Residential, 483 F. Supp. 2d 482 (D. Md. 2007) (finding 22 organizational standing in context of challenge to defendant's design and construction of inaccessible
 23 buildings); Moseke v. Smith, 202 F.Supp. 2d 492 (E.D.Va. 2002) (same); *Eastern Paralyzed Veterans
 24 Ass'n, Inc. v. Lazarus-Burman Assocs.*, 133 F. Supp. 2d 203 (E.D.N.Y. 2003) (same).¹⁴ Plaintiffs have 25 made such allegations here.

27
 28
 29
 30 31 32
 33 34 35
 36 37
 38
 39 40
 41 42
 43 44
 45
 46
 47 48 49
 50
 51
 52
 53
 54
 55
 56
 57
 58 59 60
 61
 62
 63
 64
 65
 66
 67
 68
 69
 70 71
 72
 73
 74
 75
 76
 77
 78
 79 80
 81
 82 83
 84
 85
 86 87
 88 89
 90
 91 92
 93
 94
 95
 96
 97
 98
 99 100
 101
 102
 103
 104
 105
 106
 107
 108
 109
 110
 111
 112
 113
 114
 115
 116
 117
 118
 119
 120
 121 122
 123
 124
 125
 126
 127 128
 129
 130
 131
 132
 133
 134
 135
 136
 137
 138
 139
 140
 141 142
 143
 144
 145
 146
 147
 148
 149
 150 151
 152
 153
 154 155
 156
 157
 158
 159
 160
 161
 162
 163
 164
 165
 166
 167
 168
 169
 170
 171
 172
 173
 174
 175
 176
 177
 178
 179
 180
 181
 182
 183
 184
 185
 186
 187
 188
 189
 190
 191
 192
 193
 194
 195
 196
 197
 198
 199 200 201
 202
 203
 204
 205
 206 207
 208
 209
 210
 211
 212 213
 214
 215
 216
 217
 218
 219
 220
 221
 222
 223
 224
 225
 226
 227
 228
 229
 230
 231
 232
 233
 234
 235
 236
 237 238 239
 240
 241
 242
 243
 244
 245
 246
 247
 248
 249
 250 251
 252
 253 254
 255
 256
 257
 258
 259
 260
 261
 262
 263 264
 265
 266
 267
 268 269
 270
 271
 272
 273
 274
 275
 276
 277
 278
 279
 280
 281
 282
 283 284
 285
 286
 287
 288
 289
 290
 291
 292
 293
 294
 295
 296
 297
 298
 299
 300
 301 302
 303
 304
 305
 306
 307
 308
 309
 310
 311
 312
 313
 314 315
 316
 317
 318
 319
 320
 321
 322
 323
 324
 325
 326
 327
 328
 329
 330
 331
 332
 333
 334
 335
 336
 337
 338
 339
 340
 341
 342
 343
 344 345
 346 347 348
 349
 350 351
 352
 353
 354
 355
 356
 357
 358
 359 360
 361
 362
 363
 364 365
 366
 367
 368
 369
 370
 371
 372
 373
 374
 375
 376
 377
 378
 379
 380
 381
 382
 383
 384
 385
 386
 387
 388
 389
 390
 391
 392
 393
 394
 395
 396
 397
 398
 399
 400
 401
 402
 403
 404
 405
 406
 407
 408
 409
 410
 411 412
 413
 414
 415
 416
 417
 418
 419
 420
 421
 422
 423
 424
 425
 426
 427
 428
 429
 430
 431
 432 433
 434
 435
 436
 437
 438
 439
 440
 441
 442
 443
 444
 445
 446
 447
 448 449
 450
 451
 452
 453
 454
 455
 456
 457
 458
 459
 460
 461 462
 463
 464
 465
 466
 467
 468 469
 470
 471
 472
 473
 474
 475
 476
 477
 478
 479
 480
 481
 482
 483
 484
 485
 486
 487
 488
 489
 490
 491
 492 493
 494
 495
 496
 497
 498
 499 500
 501 502
 503
 504
 505
 506
 507
 508
 509
 510
 511
 512
 513
 514
 515
 516
 517
 518
 519
 520
 521 522
 523
 524
 525
 526
 527
 528
 529
 530 531
 532
 533
 534 535
 536
 537
 538
 539
 540
 541
 542
 543
 544
 545
 546
 547
 548 549
 550
 551 552
 553
 554
 555
 556
 557
 558 559
 560
 561
 562
 563
 564
 565
 566
 567
 568 569
 570
 571
 572 573 574
 575
 576
 577
 578
 579 580
 581
 582
 583
 584
 585
 586
 587
 588
 589
 590
 591
 592
 593
 594
 595
 596
 597
 598
 599
 600
 601
 602
 603
 604
 605
 606
 607
 608
 609
 610
 611
 612
 613
 614
 615
 616
 617
 618
 619
 620
 621
 622
 623
 624
 625
 626 627
 628
 629
 630
 631
 632
 633 634
 635
 636
 637
 638
 639
 640
 641
 642
 643
 644
 645
 646
 647
 648
 649
 650
 651
 652
 653
 654
 655
 656
 657 658
 659
 660
 661
 662
 663
 664 665
 666
 667
 668
 669
 670
 671
 672
 673
 674
 675
 676
 677
 678
 679
 680
 681
 682
 683
 684
 685
 686
 687
 688 689 690
 691
 692
 693
 694
 695
 696
 697 698
 699
 700
 701
 702
 703
 704
 705
 706
 707
 708 709
 710
 711
 712
 713
 714
 715
 716
 717
 718
 719
 720
 721
 722
 723
 724 725
 726
 727
 728 729
 730
 731
 732
 733 734
 735
 736 737 738
 739
 740
 741
 742
 743
 744 745
 746
 747 748
 749
 750
 751
 752
 753
 754
 755
 756 757
 758
 759
 760
 761
 762
 763 764
 765
 766
 767
 768
 769
 770
 771
 772
 773
 774
 775
 776
 777
 778
 779
 780
 781
 782
 783
 784
 785 786
 787
 788
 789
 790 791
 792
 793
 794
 795
 796
 797
 798
 799
 800
 801
 802 803
 804
 805 806
 807
 808
 809
 810
 811
 812
 813
 814
 815
 816
 817
 818
 819
 820 821
 822 823
 824
 825
 826
 827
 828 829
 830
 831
 832
 833
 834
 835
 836
 837
 838
 839
 840
 841
 842
 843
 844
 845 846
 847
 848
 849
 850
 851 852
 853 854
 855
 856
 857
 858
 859
 860
 861 862
 863
 864
 865
 866
 867
 868 869 870
 871
 872
 873
 874
 875
 876
 877
 878
 879
 880
 881
 882
 883
 884
 885
 886
 887
 888
 889
 890
 891
 892
 893
 894
 895
 896
 897 898 899
 900 901
 902
 903
 904
 905 906
 907
 908 909
 910
 911
 912
 913
 914
 915
 916
 917
 918
 919
 920
 921
 922
 923
 924
 925 926
 927
 928
 929
 930
 931
 932
 933
 934
 935
 936
 937
 938
 939 940
 941
 942
 943 944
 945
 946 947
 948
 949
 950
 951
 952
 953
 954
 955
 956
 957
 958
 959
 960
 961 962
 963
 964
 965
 966
 967
 968
 969
 970
 971
 972
 973 974
 975
 976
 977 978
 979
 980
 981
 982 983
 984
 985
 986
 987
 988
 989
 990
 991
 992
 993
 994
 995
 996
 997
 998
 999
 1000
 1001
 1002
 1003 1004
 1005
 1006
 1007
 1008
 1009
 10010
 10011
 10012
 10013
 10014
 10015
 10016
 10017
 10018
 10019
 10020
 10021
 10022
 10023
 10024
 10025
 10026
 10027
 10028
 10029
 10030
 10031
 10032
 10033
 10034
 10035
 10036
 10037
 10038
 10039
 10040
 10041
 10042
 10043
 10044
 10045
 10046
 10047
 10048
 10049
 10050
 10051
 10052
 10053
 10054
 10055
 10056
 10057
 10058
 10059 10060
 10061
 10062
 10063
 10064
 10065
 10066
 10067
 10068
 10069
 10070
 10071
 10072
 10073
 10074
 10075
 10076
 10077
 10078
 10079
 10080
 10081
 10082
 10083
 10084
 10085
 10086
 10087
 10088
 10089
 10090
 10091
 10092
 10093
 10094
 10095
 10096
 10097
 10098
 10099 100100
 100101
 100102
 100103
 100104
 100105
 100106
 100107
 100108
 100109
 100110
 100111
 100112
 100113
 100114
 100115
 100116
 100117
 100118
 100119
 100120
 100121
 100122
 100123
 100124
 100125
 100126
 100127
 100128
 100129
 100130
 100131
 100132
 100133
 100134
 100135
 100136
 100137
 100138
 100139
 100140
 100141
 100142
 100143
 100144
 100145
 100146
 100147
 100148
 100149
 100150
 100151
 100152
 100153
 100154
 100155
 100156
 100157
 100158
 100159
 100160
 100161
 100162
 100163
 100164
 100165
 100166
 100167
 100168
 100169
 100170
 100171
 100172
 100173
 100174
 100175
 100176
 100177
 100178
 100179
 100180
 100181
 100182
 100183
 100184
 100185
 100186
 100187
 100188
 100189
 100190
 100191
 100192
 100193
 100194
 100195
 100196
 100197
 100198
 100199
 100200
 100201
 100202
 100203
 100204
 100205
 100206
 100207
 100208
 100209
 100210
 100211
 100212
 100213
 100214
 100215
 100216
 100217
 100218
 100219
 100220
 100221
 100222
 100223
 100224
 100225
 100226
 100227
 100228
 100229
 100230
 100231
 100232
 100233
 100234
 100235
 100236
 100237
 100238
 100239
 100240
 100241 100242
 100243
 100244
 100245 100246
 100247
 100248
 100249
 100250
 100251
 100252
 100253
 100254
 100255
 100256
 100257
 100258
 100259
 100260
 100261
 100262
 100263
 100264
 100265
 100266
 100267
 100268
 100269
 100270
 100271
 100272
 100273
 100274
 100275
 100276
 100277
 100278
 100279
 100280
 100281
 100282
 100283
 100284
 100285
 100286
 100287
 100288
 100289
 100290
 100291
 100292
 100293
 100294
 100295
 100296
 100297
 100298
 100299
 100300
 100301
 100302
 100303
 100304
 100305
 100306
 100307
 100308
 100309
 100310
 100311
 100312
 100313
 100314
 100315
 100316
 100317
 100318
 100319
 100320
 100321
 100322
 100323
 100324
 100325
 100326
 100327
 100328
 100329
 100330
 100331
 100332
 100333
 100334
 100335
 100336
 100337
 100338
 100339
 100340
 100341
 100342
 100343
 100344
 100345
 100346
 100347
 100348

1 1. Plaintiffs' Allegations Related to Standing.

2 In the context of a motion to dismiss, the question of whether standing exists "can be answered
 3 chiefly by comparing the allegations of the particular complaint to those made in prior standing cases."
 4 Allen v. Wright, 468 U.S. 737, 751-52 (1984). Plaintiffs' allegations mirror those made by the 5 organizational plaintiffs in Havens and Pacific Properties, who were each found to have standing in the 6 context of a motion to dismiss.

7 a. Plaintiffs' General Standing Allegations

8 Plaintiffs have generally alleged that Defendants' conduct has frustrated their missions and 9 forced them to divert resources to identify and counteract Defendants' conduct:

10 Plaintiffs have been directly and substantially injured in that they have 11 been frustrated in their missions to eradicate discrimination in housing, 12 and in carrying out the programs and services they provide, including 13 encouraging integrated living patterns, educating the public about fair
 14 housing rights and requirements, educating and working with industry 15 groups on fair housing compliance, providing counseling services to 16 individuals and families looking for housing or affected by discriminatory
 17 housing practices and eliminating discriminatory housing practices. FAC 18 at ¶ 72.

19 The A.G. Spanos Defendants' continuing discriminatory practices have 20 forced Plaintiffs to divert significant and scarce resources to identify,
 21 investigate, and counteract the A.G. Spanos Defendants' discriminatory
 22 practices, and such practices have frustrated Plaintiffs' other efforts
 23 against discrimination, causing each to suffer concrete and demonstrable
 24 injuries. FAC at ¶ 75.

25 (D.N.J. 2003) construed the Americans with Disabilities Act (hereinafter, "ADA") and not the FHA. As 26 the Clark opinion makes clear, the ADA provides no remedy to an organization for discrimination
 27 "against others." Id. at 209. On the other hand, courts have long held that "aggrieved persons" under 28 the FHA may seek a remedy if they were injured by discriminatory acts that were aimed at others. See, e.g., Gladstone Realtors v. Vill. Of Bellwood, 441 U.S. 91, 103-04 n.9 (1979)(holding that "any person harmed by discrimination, whether or not the target of discrimination, can sue and recover for his or her own injury"). Defendants ignore other Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit precedent directly on point, which holds, consistent with every other Circuit in the country that an organization that alleges a "diversion of resources" and "frustration of mission" as a result of Defendants' conduct establishes standing.

1 Plaintiffs have also alleged that the frustration of their missions and the diversion of their
 2 resources will continue absent remediation of Defendants' conduct.

3 Until remedied, the A.G. Spanos Defendants' unlawful, discriminatory
 4 actions will continue to injure Plaintiffs by:

- 5 a. Interfering with efforts and programs intended to bring about equality of opportunity in housing;
- 6 b. Requiring the commitment of scarce resources, including substantial staff time and funding, to investigate and counteract the A.G. Spanos Defendants' discriminatory conduct, thus diverting those resources from the Plaintiffs' other activities and services, such as education, outreach, and counseling; and
- 7 c. Frustrating Plaintiffs' missions and purposes of promoting the equal availability of housing to all persons without regard to any protected category, including disability.

12 FAC at ¶ 78.

13 These general allegations alone are sufficient to establish standing under the FHA. See Havens, 14 455 U.S. at 379; Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1105; Equal Rights Center v. Equity Residential, 483 F.
 15 Supp. 2d 482 (D. Md. 2007). Plaintiffs, however, provide more detailed, specific allegations describing 16 the frustration of their missions and diversion of their resources.

18

19 2. Specific Allegations Related to Each the Frustration of Each Plaintiff's Mission.

20 As alleged in the Complaint, Plaintiffs in this matter share common missions of ensuring equal
 21 housing opportunity for all, including that housing is accessible to people with disabilities. See FAC ¶¶
 22 15-19. Plaintiff NFHA's "mission includes advocating for the rights of people with disabilities to 23 accessible housing....One of NFHA's goals is the promotion of accessible housing...." FAC at ¶ 15
 24 Plaintiff FHOM maintains a "mission of promoting equal housing opportunities, including...advocacy
 25 for accessible and affordable housing." FAC at ¶ 16. FHNV has a "mission promoting accessible
 26 housing, including education and outreach to home seekers and housing industry groups and assistance
 27 to victims of discrimination, investigation of fair housing violations and publication of materials
 28 concerning the housing rights of people with disabilities and others." FAC at ¶ 17. MFHS' "mission is

1 to promote social justice and eliminate housing and lending inequities for all people, including those
 2 with disabilities, through leadership, education and outreach, public policy advocacy and enforcement.”
 3 FAC at ¶ 18. FHC is “committed to equal housing opportunity and the elimination of discrimination in 4 Florida [including] strategies to increase accessibility prior to construction...[and] increase fair housing
 5 rights knowledge to the disability community. FAC at ¶ 19

6 Plaintiffs’ missions, therefore, are frustrated “[e] ach time the [Defendants] designed and 7 constructed covered dwellings that did not comply with the FHA in one of Plaintiffs’ service areas.”
 8 FAC at ¶ 73. This is because the construction of an inaccessible building “discourage[s] people with 9 disabilities from living at that dwelling, and encourage[s] other entities involved in the design and 10 construction of covered units to disregard their own responsibilities under the FHA,” FAC at ¶ 73, in 11 direct contravention of Plaintiffs’ missions.

12 Plaintiffs’ allegations regarding their missions and how they were frustrated by Defendants’
 13 pattern and practice of constructing inaccessible buildings parallel the allegations that have been found
 14 sufficient to establish standing by the Ninth Circuit. In Pacific Properties, the plaintiff alleged that it
 15 was “organized with the principal purpose of helping to eliminate discrimination against individuals
 16 with disabilities by ensuring compliance with laws intended to provide access to housing, public
 17 buildings, transportation, goods and services.... Part and parcel to this effort is ensuring an adequate
 18 stock of accessible housing for those who are freed to leave the nursing homes.” Pacific Properties, 358
 19 F.3d at 1105. As the Ninth Circuit reasoned, with such a mission, “[a]ny violation of the FHAA would 20 therefore constitute a “frustration of [DRAC’s] mission.” Id. at 1105 citing Fair Hous. of Marin, 285
 21 F.3d at 905.

22 These detailed allegations readily meet the requirement to allege that Defendants’ conduct
 23 frustrated Plaintiffs’ missions. See Havens, 455 U.S. at 379 (finding organizational standing where 24 plaintiff’s allegations related to defendant’s frustration of their mission solely stated that “Plaintiff
 25 HOME has been frustrated by defendants’ racial steering practices in its efforts to assist equal access to 26 housing through counseling and other referral services.”); Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1105; *Equal
 27 Rights Center*, 483 F. Supp. 2d 482, 487 (D. Md. 2007)

28

1 3. Specific Allegations Related to Plaintiffs' Diversion of Resources.

2 The Ninth Circuit has also addressed the standard for an organization pleading diversion of 3 resources in the context of a fair housing organization's challenge to the failure to construct an
 4 accessible multi-family building. In Pacific Properties, the plaintiff, DRAC, pleaded in its complaint
 5 that "in order to monitor the violations and educate the public regarding the discrimination at issue,
 6 DRAC has had (and, until the discrimination is corrected, will continue) to divert its scarce resources
 7 from other efforts to promote awareness of-and compliance with-federal and state accessibility laws and 8 to benefit the disabled community in other ways (for example, DRAC's efforts to free disabled persons
 9 from nursing homes.) [.]" Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1105. In reversing the District Court, which 10 had dismissed the complaint, the Ninth Circuit stated "[b]earing in mind that DRAC's claim was 11 dismissed without leave to amend, we believe these allegations are enough to constitute a showing of a
 12 "diversion of resources" and to survive a 12(b)(6) motion." Id. at 1105-6.¹⁵

13 Plaintiffs' allegations regarding their diversion of resources here are far more detailed and 14 describe more substantial efforts and costs than that alleged in Pacific Properties. As detailed in the 15 Complaint, "[e]ach Plaintiff conducted site visits, investigations, surveys or tests at the Tested
 16 Properties, resulting in the diversion of its resources in terms of staff time and salaries and travel and 17 incidental expenses that it would not have had to expend were it not for the A.G. Spanos Defendants'
 18 violations." FAC at ¶ 75. In combination, the five Plaintiffs conducted site visits and investigations at 19 34 of Defendants' properties. FAC at ¶ 42 ("In 2006 and 2007, NFHA and the other Plaintiffs
 20 conducted site visits, investigations, surveys and tests at 34 of the Subject Properties in California, 21 Nevada, Arizona, Texas, Kansas, Florida and Georgia."). These site visits and investigations required

22

23 ¹⁵ Defendants attempt to distinguish Pacific Properties on the grounds that the Ninth Circuit was 24 considering the appeal of a grant of a motion to dismiss without leave to amend. The procedural
 25 posture, however, was not determinative. The Ninth Circuit was clear in its statement that DRAC's 26 allegations, without the need for amendment, were sufficient to establish that the organization had 27 diverted its resources and had standing. Pacific Properties at 1106. As simply stated by the Ninth 28 Circuit in its conclusion, "DRAC has also made a sufficient showing to support its claim of organizational standing." Id. at 1107; see also Id. at 1106 (concluding that in addition to reversing the district court in regard to its finding that the organizational plaintiff has not shown it had standing, "[w] also believe that the district court abused its discretion in denying DRAC leave to amend its complaint with regard to organizational standing prior to dismissal." (emphasis added.)

1 “Plaintiffs to divert resources, including funding and staff members’ time, from other activities in order
 2 to conduct further investigation and testing of the A. G. Spanos Defendants’ properties so as to ascertain
 3 the extent of FHA violations.” FAC at ¶ 41. Significantly, Plaintiffs’ efforts revealed at least one FHA
 4 violation and, in most cases, multiple violations, at each of the properties Plaintiffs’ and their staff
 5 investigated. FAC at ¶ 45.

6 Plaintiffs’ allegations related to their diversion of resources are not just far more detailed and specific
 7 than the allegations made by the fair housing organizations in Pacific Properties, but are more detailed
 8 than those alleged in Havens as well. See Havens, 455 U.S. at 379 (finding standing where plaintiff’s 9 allegation related to diversion of resources stated only that “Plaintiff HOME has had to devote 10 significant resources to identify and counteract the defendant’s [sic] racially discriminatory steering 11 practices.”); Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1105-6; Equal Rights Center, 483 F. Supp. 2d at 487.

12 Finally, notwithstanding the foregoing, Defendants still argue that Plaintiffs’ allegations are too
 13 general. This contention is directly refuted by Havens, which held that more rudimentary allegations of 14 injury than those made by Plaintiffs here were sufficient to establish standing at the pleading stage.
 15 Havens, 455 U.S. at 378-79. The Supreme Court required no more specificity. See id. “At the pleading
 16 stage, general factual allegations of injury resulting from the defendant’s conduct may suffice, for on a
 17 motion to dismiss we presum[e] that general allegations embrace those specific facts that are necessary
 18 to support the claim.” Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 561 (1992) (citation and internal 19 quotation marks omitted). Defendants’ call at the pleading stage for a more detailed auditing of 20 Plaintiffs’ injuries, supported by evidence, is premature. Plaintiffs need only plead injury now, not 21 prove it. There will be plenty of time at the summary judgment phase and thereafter to test the strength 22 of Plaintiffs’ proof of the matter alleged.

23 Plaintiffs have adequately pleaded injury to establish that they have organizational standing
 24 under Havens and its progeny. Defendants’ arguments to the contrary are unavailing.

25
 26
 27
 28

1 4. Defendants' Responses to Plaintiffs' Standing Allegations Are Misplaced and 2 Unpersuasive.

3 a. Plaintiffs' Allegations Clearly Establish that Defendants Caused Plaintiffs'
 4 Injury.

5 Defendants argue that Plaintiffs' allegations of diversion of resources and frustration of mission
 6 cannot support standing because they were not caused by Defendants' discrimination. MD at 21.
 7 Defendants, however, offer no case support for this argument.

8 As described in the allegations detailed above, Defendants' actions frustrated Plaintiffs' missions
 9 and Defendants' actions required Plaintiffs to divert their resources to identify and counteract
 10 Defendants' discrimination. Defendants' construction of at least 82 inaccessible multi-family apartment
 11 buildings, in contravention of the fair housing laws, limits the housing opportunities available to people
 12 with disabilities. This directly frustrates Plaintiffs' missions, which include ensuring that people with 13 disabilities have equal access to safe, affordable, and accessible housing. In Pacific Properties there was 14 no allegation that the plaintiff received any complaint about the noncompliant buildings; rather, it
 15 discovered the violations through its own audit of properties in its service area. Pacific Properties 358
 16 F.2d at 1099.

17 The fact that the Plaintiff organizations discovered the inaccessible buildings through the course
 18 of their advocacy and not from a complaint does not make their injuries "voluntary." Defendants'
 19 suggestion that Plaintiffs' injuries are "self-inflicted" and therefore that Plaintiffs should not have 20 standing to challenged Defendants' discrimination is contrary to core principles of the FHA and the 21 forty-years precedent interpreting it. See, e.g., Havens, 455 U.S. at 380 (describing the "the broad 22 remedial intent of Congress embodied in the Act."). Congress explicitly recognized and supported the 23 invaluable enforcement role of fair housing organizations in achieving compliance with the FHA.

24 Housing and Cmtys. Dev. Act of 1992, Pub. L. No. 102-550 § 905(a)(2), 106 Stat. 3672, 3868 (1992).
 25 The Supreme Court has also recognized that suits by "private attorneys general" like the Plaintiffs here,
 26 are the "main generating force" in vindicating the goals and policy of the FHA. See Trafficante, 409
 27 U.S. at 209, 211.

1 Plaintiffs spent significant time and resources to identify and counteract Defendants' 2 discrimination. Plaintiffs need not demonstrate that they were literally "forced" to spend time and 3 resources responding to Defendants' discriminatory design and construction, but simply that, absent 4 Defendants' policy and practice of designing and constructing inaccessible multi-family apartment 5 buildings, Plaintiffs would not have had to spend that time and those resources. See, e.g., Pacific 6 Properties 358 F.3d at 1105-6; Fair Hous. of Marin, 285 F.3d at 902-05; Walker v. City of Lakewood, 7 272 F.3d 1114, 1123-25 (9th Cir. 2001); Riga, 208 F.3d at 427 n.4; National Fair Housing Alliance v. 8 Prudential Insurance Co. of America, 208 F. Supp. 2d 46, 48, 52-54 (D.D.C. 2002). Plaintiffs' 9 allegations establish causation.

10 b. Organizational Standing Under the Fair Housing Act Does Not Turn on How 11 the Organization Became Aware of Defendants' Discrimination.

12 Defendants suggest that an organizational plaintiff's diversion of resources and frustration of 13 mission cannot support standing unless the organization shows that it received some complaint from the 14 public about the alleged discrimination. MD at 22. As Defendants would have it, absent a complaint 15 from the public, any injury to Plaintiffs related to Defendants' discrimination was not caused by 16 Defendants, but was instead self-inflicted. Defendants' argument has been explicitly rejected by the 17 courts.

18 As the Sixth Circuit described in Fair Housing Council, Inc. v. Village of Old St. Andrews, 19 "regardless of whether an organization learns of potential discrimination through independent 20 complaints or through its own observations, any action it takes in combating that discrimination is fairly 21 traceable to the defendant's discriminatory acts." 210 Fed. Appx. 469, 2006 WL 3724128 at *9 (6th Cir. 22 December 15, 2006) (finding that organization had standing to challenge the design and the construction 23 of inaccessible building where it discovered the violations through its own observations), citing Cabrera 24 v. Jakabovitz, 24 F.3d 372 (2d Cir. 1994) (finding that a housing organization had standing when the 25 organization, acting on its own initiative rather than in response to a specific complaint, sent testers to 26 investigate racial steering at certain New York City rental properties).

27 Similarly, in Pacific Properties, the Ninth Circuit found that the plaintiff organization had 28 standing to challenge the defendant's failure to construct an accessible building even though the

1 organization became aware of the violations through a tester program organized and implemented by the
 2 organization. There was no allegation that the plaintiff in Pacific Properties received any complaint
 3 about the noncompliant buildings; rather, it discovered the violations through its own audit of properties
 4 in its service area. Pacific Properties 358 F.2d at 1099.

5 Like the Pacific Properties and Village of St. Andrews plaintiff organizations, the Plaintiffs here
 6 became aware of Defendants' non-compliant buildings “[i]n the course of their advocacy on behalf of 7 people protected by the FHA....” FAC at ¶ 40. As the Ninth Circuit and the Sixth Circuit have made 8 clear, this is no obstacle to organizational standing.

9 Plaintiffs are not seeking compensation for injuries they inflicted upon themselves; instead they 10 seek to foster the FHA's goal “to end the unnecessary exclusion of persons with handicaps from the 11 American mainstream.” H.R. Rep. No. 100-711, at 18 (1988), reprinted in 1988 U.S.C.C.A.N. 2173,
 12 2179. Whether an organization becomes aware of the unnecessary exclusion of people with disabilities
 13 from its staff observing steps up to units of a newly constructed apartment building, see Village of St.
 14 Andrews, 210 Fed. Appx. 469, 2006 WL 3724128, from its staff auditing all the multi-family dwellings
 15 in their service area, see Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1099, or from a complaint, the injury to their 16 missions and their resources is caused by the same act: the defendant's discrimination.

17 c. An Organizational Plaintiff Need Not Be A Person Within A Protected Class
 18 or Sue on Behalf of a Person Within A Protected Class to Have Standing 19 Under the Fair Housing Act.

20 Defendants' arguments that the organizational Plaintiffs cannot have standing or be an aggrieved
 21 person under the FHA unless they are members of a protected class is contrary to the plain language of 22 the statute and has been rejected by the Supreme Court and every Circuit considering organizational 23 standing under the FHA.

24 Standing does not turn on a plaintiff's membership in a protected class, but instead, turns on 25 whether a Plaintiff has suffered a cognizable injury. As described above, the FHA permits any 26 “aggrieved person” — defined as anyone who “claims to have been injured by a discriminatory housing
 27 practice” — to bring an action under the Act. 42 U.S.C. §§ 3602(i)(1), 3613(a)(1)(A). The FHA defines 28 “person” to include “corporations,” “associations,” and “unincorporated organizations.” 42 U.S.C. §
 3602(d). The FHA thus provides for enforcement actions by organizations such as the Plaintiff

1 organizations, which are all non-profit corporations. See Riga, 208 F.3d at 427, cert. denied, 531 U.S.
 2 1069 (2001) (finding that a fair housing organization was an “aggrieved person” under the Act).

3 The “aggrieved person” definition under the FHA confers standing as broadly as is permitted by 4 Article III of the Constitution and does not require the plaintiff to be within a protected class. See, e.g.,
 5 Gladstone Realtors v. Vill. of Bellwood, 441 U.S. 91, 103-04 n.9 (1979). As a result, “any person
 6 harmed by discrimination, whether or not the target of the discrimination, can sue to recover for his or 7 her own injury.” See Trafficante, 409 U.S at 208. “The Supreme Court has made clear what seems 8 evident from this language—that “an aggrieved person” does not necessarily have to be the person
 9 discriminated against.” Growth Horizons, Inc. v. Delaware County, Pa., 983 F.2d 1277, 1282 n.6 (3d
 10 Cir. 1993) (citations omitted).

11 Therefore, discriminatory conduct directed at racial minorities that indirectly injures whites can 12 violate the FHA. See, e.g., Gladstone, 441 U.S. at 103 n.9. Similarly, discriminatory conduct directed at 13 any protected class that indirectly injures a fair housing organization also violates the FHA. See, e.g., 14 Havens, 455 U.S. at 379-80; Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1105-6. The numerous courts that have 15 upheld the standing of fair housing organizations under the FHA have never required that the 16 organization show that it is a member of a protected class. Gladstone, 441 U.S. at 103.

17 Defendants next argue that absent membership in a protected class, a plaintiff may only have 18 standing if it sues on behalf of members of a protected class. Again, Defendants ignore the relevant 19 precedent. As described by the Third Circuit, “[t]he section [of the FHA] that confers a right to 20 commence an action in federal court and ‘to obtain appropriate relief,’ § 3613(a)(1), does not restrict the 21 right to bring an action to persons ‘associated with’ a handicapped person, but rather allows anyone 22 sustaining an actual injury from an alleged discriminatory housing practice to commence a suit.”
Growth Horizons, 983 F.2d at 1282 n.7.

23 Typically, an organization seeking to sue on behalf of members of a protected class, seeks 24 “associational” or “representational” standing.”¹⁶ See Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1104 (concluding

25
 26
 27
 28 ¹⁶ An organization can establish associational standing when (1) its members would otherwise have standing to sue in their own right, (2) the interests at stake are germane to the organization’s purpose, and (3) neither the claim asserted nor the relief requested requires the participation of individual members in the lawsuit. Friends of the Earth, 528 U.S. at 180-181.

1 that, in addition to organizational standing, the organizational plaintiff had representational standing
 2 based on injuries suffered by tester employed by organization to audit the accessibility of defendant's
 3 buildings). Plaintiffs do not seek representational standing here; accordingly the question of whether 4 they have brought suit on behalf of individuals who would have standing to sue in their own right is 5 irrelevant.

6 Defendants finally appear to make a related argument that, absent a showing that some person
 7 with a disability was injured by Defendants' conduct, Plaintiffs cannot have standing to challenge the 8 discrimination. There is no basis for suggesting that a organization's frustration of mission and 9 diversion of resources is only a cognizable injury if it can be shown that some person in a protected class
 10 was also injured by the challenged conduct. In Village of Old St. Andrews, the Sixth Circuit did not
 11 require that there be an allegation that some person with a disability was injured by defendant's 12 construction of an inaccessible building. 210 Fed. Appx. 469, 2006 WL 3724128. Instead, it was 13 sufficient for the organizational plaintiff to allege that its staff observed non-compliant steps, which 14 frustrated their mission, and took actions to investigate and counteract the observed discrimination. Id.
 15 There was no suggestion in Village of Old St. Andrews or in Pacific Properties that the organization
 16 would first have to prove that an individual was injured by the challenged discrimination. Instead, the 17 courts only required that the organizational Plaintiff prove that the defendant engaged in discriminatory
 18 conduct in violation of the FHA and that such conduct injured the plaintiff.

19 20 d. The Proximity of Plaintiffs' Offices to Defendants' Inaccessible Buildings Is Not Relevant to Any Standing Inquiry.

21 Defendants argue that Plaintiffs lack standing to pursue injunctive relief because some of the 22 inaccessible buildings that Plaintiffs seek to require Defendants to remediate are far from Plaintiffs'
 23 offices. There is no legal basis for Defendants' version of a "proximity" test in this context. Again, the 24 determinative question is injury, and in the context of injunctive relief, a substantial likelihood of future
 25 injury, including continuing frustration of Plaintiffs' mission and diversion of their resources for 26 purposes other than this litigation. FAC ¶ 78. Plaintiffs' missions encompass ensuring equal housing 27 opportunity in their service areas. FAC ¶¶ 15-19. When the fair housing laws are violated in the 28 Plaintiffs' service areas, their missions are harmed and any diversion of resources to identify and

1 counteract those violations is a concrete injury, thereby establishing standing. The organizations are
 2 permitted to define their own service areas, and are certainly not limited to a circle extending only one
 3 hundred miles from their offices. As described in Pacific Properties, the Disability Rights Action
 4 Committee (“DRAC”), a Utah non-profit corporation, had standing to challenge defendant’s
 5 construction of multi-family dwellings in Clark County, Nevada. Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 1097.
 6 This was because DRAC’s mission was to “the rights of disabled persons in Utah and Nevada” and the 7 construction of inaccessible buildings in that service area frustrated the organization’s mission. Id. at 8 1099, 1105.

9 A Maryland District Court reached an even broader conclusion when rejecting a defendant’s
 10 attempt to defeat the standing of a Washington, D.C.-based fair housing organization challenging a 11 builder’s design and construction of inaccessible buildings throughout the country. Equal Rights Center
 12 483 F. Supp. 2d 482. As the court stated, “the very fact that plaintiff undertook a nationwide 13 investigation of defendants’ violations is proof positive of plaintiff’s concrete injury.” Id. at 487.
 14 Again, the fair housing organization was not limited to a constrained geographical area around its office.
 15 Instead, as a fair housing organization, the plaintiff was “an organization with a mission that is national 16 in scope and breadth.” Id.; see also, Moseke 202 F. Supp. 2d 492 (upholding standing of Washington,
 17 D.C.-based fair housing organization’s standing to challenge defendant’s construction of inaccessible
 18 building in Virginia.)

19 As described in the complaint, Plaintiff NFHA is an organization with a national mission,
 20 “NFHA is a nationwide alliance of private, non-profit fair housing organizations.” FAC at ¶ 15. As a 21 result, all of the non-complaint properties at issue in this case were in NFHA’s service area. Further, as 22 described in the Complaint, Defendants designed and constructed noncompliant buildings in each of the 23 rest of the organizations’ service areas. FAC at ¶ 75. As Pacific Properties makes clear, regardless of 24 where the Plaintiffs’ offices are located, Defendants’ actions in violating the FHA in Plaintiffs’ service
 25 areas frustrated their missions and forced them to divert their resources. Pacific Properties, 358 F.3d at 26 1105-6; see also, National Fair Housing Alliance, 208 F. Supp. 2d at 49 (D.D.C. 2002) (finding standing 27 for fair housing organizations, who “work to promote fair housing in their respective geographic areas

1 across the United States," where defendants' discriminatory conduct occurred in those organization's
 2 service areas).

3 Defendants' citation to cases requiring individual plaintiffs to live or intend to live in the housing
 4 that is the subject of their fair housing challenge is misplaced here. Standing for these organizational 5 Plaintiffs does not rest on an injury caused by the fact that the Plaintiffs cannot live in a particular
 6 dwelling, as was the case in the precedent cited by Defendants. Instead, as organizations, Plaintiffs'
 7 standing rests on the consequence of Defendants' design and construction of inaccessible buildings,
 8 which frustrate Plaintiffs' missions and forces them to divert their scarce resources. These injuries occur
 9 even though the organizations have no interest or ability to live in the subject properties. Of course, no
 10 court considering organizational standing under the FHA has ever required the organization to establish 11 an interest in living in the subject building as a prerequisite for standing to sue under the Act.
 12 Defendants' assertion to the contrary has no basis in law or fact.

13 5. Defendants' "Aggrieved Person" Arguments Are Subject to the Same Analysis as 14 Their Standing Arguments.

15 Defendants repeat their standing arguments in support of their contention that Plaintiffs are not 16 "aggrieved persons" under the FHA.¹⁷ Defendants argue that whether Plaintiffs have standing and 17 whether they are aggrieved persons under the FHA are distinct questions. Defendants are incorrect.
 18 Here, the allegations Plaintiffs make to establish standing necessarily establish that Plaintiffs are 19 aggrieved persons under the FHA.

20 Defendants note the general proposition that the question of whether a plaintiff has stated a claim
 21 for relief is a separate question from whether the plaintiff has established standing. While this may be 22 true in a general sense, here the questions are not distinct. As described above, to establish standing, an 23 organizational Plaintiff must show: (1) injury in fact that is, (2) fairly traceable to the challenged
 24 conduct, and (3) that the injury will be redressed by a favorable decision. Friends of the Earth, 528 U.S.
 25 at 180-81. To be an "aggrieved person" under the FHA, a plaintiff must "claim[] to have been injured
 26

27 ¹⁷ Defendants' "aggrieved persons" arguments appears in similar form repeatedly in Defendants'
 28 motions. See MD at 11-16; MS at 2-4, 8-11; Memo. In Support of Defendant Highpointe Village's Motion to Dismiss [Doc. No. 60] at 16-18.

1 by a discriminatory housing practice.” 42 U.S.C. §§ 3602(i)(1), 3613(a)(1)(A). Indeed, courts have 2 established the FHA standing requirement by reference to the “aggrieved person” phrase in the Act. See,
 3 e.g., Trafficante 409 U.S. at 205.

4 Defendants’ arguments in support of their proposition that Plaintiffs are not aggrieved persons
 5 are all based on the assertion that Plaintiffs have not suffered a cognizable injury. See, e.g., MD at 11-
 6 16 (asserting that Plaintiffs are not “aggrieved persons” because they do not belong to a protected class
 7 and voluntarily incurred their damages). Plaintiffs’ standing arguments clearly establish that Plaintiffs’
 8 have adequately alleged injury in fact and that the injury was caused by Defendants’ discriminatory
 9 construction of inaccessible buildings – a discriminatory housing practice under the Act. See 42 U.S.C.
 10 § 3604(f)(3)(C).

11 Accordingly, the injuries alleged in the FAC that establish that Plaintiffs have standing also 12 establish that Plaintiffs are aggrieved persons under the FHA. Defendants’ recycled standing arguments
 13 are, therefore, equally unpersuasive in the context of arguing that Plaintiffs are not aggrieved persons.

14

15 C. PLAINTIFFS HAVE SOUGHT TO JOIN ALL PARTIES REQUIRED FOR FULL AND FAIR ADJUDICATION OF THIS CASE

16 The Spanos Defendants suggest that Plaintiffs must join the current owners of all 82 properties
 17 that are the subject of this litigation, as well as all current tenants and the secured lenders on each of the 18 properties. MDIP 5-9. Plaintiffs agree that it is desirable to add current owners, and have proposed to 19 do so as part of a defendant class action. But, for the reasons outlined below, neither current tenants nor 20 lenders need be joined, because the Court can fashion relief in this case so as to avoid any infringement
 21 of the rights of those parties.

22 Federal courts have routinely held that “[a] Rule 12(b) (7) motion will be granted only if the 23 court determines that joinder of the party is not possible, and that the party is, in fact, ‘indispensable.’”
Mintel Learning Technology v. Beijing Kaidi Education & Technology Development Co., Ltd., Slip 24 Copy, 2007 WL 2288329, at *11 (N.D. Cal 2007) (citing Shermoen v. United States, 982 F.2d 1312, 25 1317 (9th Cir.1992)). The procedure for considering whether to dismiss an action for failure to join a 26 purportedly “indispensable” party, as established by Rule 19, was summarized by the court in United 27 States v. Bowen, 172 F.3d 682 (9th Cir. 1999):

1 First, the court must determine whether the absent party is "necessary."
 2 ...If the absent party is "necessary," the court must determine whether 3 joinder is "feasible." Finally, if joinder is not, the court must decide 4 whether the absent party is "indispensable," i.e. whether in "equity and 5 good conscience" the action can proceed without the party.

6 Id. at 688 (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 19). A motion to dismiss for failure to join an indispensable party
 7 requires that the moving party bear the burden of proof. Mintel Learning, supra at 13. The Spanos
 8 Defendants have failed to carry that burden.

9

10 1. A Defendant Class Action Comprised of the Current Owners and the Class Representatives Selected by Plaintiffs Is a Permissible Means of Joining the Owners

11 Defendants seek to construct a Catch-22 with respect to the current owners. Plaintiffs must, they 12 assert, add current owners as "necessary" parties under Fed. R. Civ. P. 19(a), but allegedly cannot do so
 13 because this Court cannot achieve personal jurisdiction over current owners, and because the defendant
 14 class representatives named by Plaintiffs own properties that were constructed more than two years prior 15 to the filing of the complaint herein. Defendants are wrong with respect to both arguments.

16 In addition to the Spanos Defendants, who are responsible for the development, design and 17 construction of these nonconforming dwelling units, the FAC pleads a class of current owner defendants,
 18 and Plaintiffs will move to certify that class after the Court disposes of the pending motions. Plaintiffs 19 and the Spanos Defendants agree that current owners are parties who should be joined if their joinder is 20 feasible.¹⁸ Plaintiffs seek to join them as parties for injunctive relief only, i.e. that they allow the 21 retrofits ordered by the Court to be made at their properties as well as inspection of that work to insure 22 that it has been done in accord with the Court's order.¹⁹ See Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc. v. Rommell Builders, Inc., 40 F. Supp. 2d 700, 711-12 (D.Md.1999) (Court upheld joinder of an association of 23 condominium owners who were joined by plaintiffs only to effectuate retrofit relief of the common areas 24 of the complex.). The Spanos Defendants argue, however, that the means chosen for bringing the

25
 26
 27 ¹⁸ MDIP at 6.

28 ¹⁹ FAC ¶40.D. The Spanos Defendants would also join them for purposes of liability as well.

1 current owners into the case—a defendant class action—is not possible because: (1) all claims against
 2 the named, putative class representatives, Knickerbocker and Highpointe, are barred by the two year
 3 statute of limitations; and (2) Plaintiffs must allege that the court has personal jurisdiction over all 4 members of the defendant class to maintain a class action, unless class members voluntarily agree to 5 participate by not opting out of the class. According to the Spanos Defendants, Plaintiffs cannot allege
 6 the personal jurisdiction of this court over the owners because they are located throughout the country
 7 and, therefore, as the owners are required parties but cannot be joined, the case should be dismissed
 8 under Rule 19(b).

9 Defendants also erroneously claim that Plaintiffs must allege that “this Court has personal 10 jurisdiction over the absent class members.”²⁰ To the contrary, it is long established that:

11 [A] class action may bind absent members of a plaintiff or defendant class
 12 with respect to the common issues, consistent with due process principles,
 13 if the class is adequately represented. Personal jurisdiction is not required 14 over all class members in order to reach a binding decision on the common issues involved when the class has been adequately represented.

15 2 NEWBERG ON CLASS ACTIONS ("Newberg") § 4:47 at 341 (Alba Conte & Herbert Newberg eds., 16 2002) (citing Hansberry v Lee, 311 U.S. 32, 61 S. Ct 115, 85 L. ED. 22, 132. 741 (1940)). See also 17 Califano v. Yamasaki, 442 U.S. 682, 99 S. Ct. 2545, 61 L. Ed. 2d 176 (1979) (upholding a plaintiff class
 18 certification of a national class of recipients of federal benefits, including members outside of California,
 19 under a federal law that did not provide for nationwide service). Nowhere in Rule 23(a) and (b) is there a 20 requirement that a court have personal jurisdiction over all class members to maintain a class action, as 21 Defendants assert. Indeed, “[i]f personal jurisdiction over every member of a defendant class were 22 required, the maintenance of defendant class actions would be virtually impossible.” 2 Newberg § 4:52.

23 Later in their brief the Spanos Defendants argue that in the absence of personal jurisdiction over 24 class members, notice and the opportunity to opt out must be provided.²¹ Again, Defendants are simply

26
 27
 28²⁰ MDIP at 1-2.

²¹ MDIP at 8-9

wrong. Rule 23 does not mandate opt out notice in all class actions; only where the class action is certified under Rule 23(b)(3) does Rule 23(c)(2) require notice with an opt out provision.²² On these preliminary motions, the Court need not resolve the question whether this is a (b)(1), (b)(2) or (b)(3) class action or what notice should be provided class members in a motion to dismiss. This determination is made at class certification. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 (c) ("Certification Order; Notice to Class Members; Judgment; Issue Classes; Subclasses"). Plaintiffs have shown that joinder of owners is possible, and, therefore, rejection of Defendants' motion to dismiss is warranted.²³

²² See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 (c) (2)(B). The Court may order notice in Rule 23(b)(1) and (b)(2) class actions but the notice and the form of that notice is discretionary with the court. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 (c)(2)(A) ("the court may direct appropriate notice to the class") and Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(d)(1)(B) ("...the court may issue orders that...(B) require—to protect class members and fairly conduct the action—giving appropriate notice to some or all class members").

²³ Much of Defendants' argument is based on Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts, 472 U.S. 797, 105 S. Ct 2965 (1985) where the Court upheld the constitutionality of a Kansas state class action provision as applied to absent plaintiff class members who were citizens of other states, in a class lawsuit wholly or predominantly for money judgment. The Court held that where a proposed settlement seeks to bind plaintiffs who are not subject to personal jurisdiction of the forum court, due process required notice and the opportunity to exclude them from the lawsuit. Id. at 811-12. The Court was careful, however, to distinguish its holding from the facts presented here saying:

Our holding today is limited to those class actions ... for money damages. We intimate no view concerning other types of class actions, such as those seeking equitable relief. Nor, does our discussion of personal jurisdiction address class actions where jurisdiction is asserted against a defendant class (emphasis in the original).

²¹ Id. at 813, fn. 3. Unlike Phillips Petroleum, Plaintiffs here do not seek money damages from the defendant class, but only injunctive relief—that they permit the retrofits to be made to their properties to bring them into compliance with the requirements of federal law, which applies to all properties, with four or more apartments, built for first occupancy after March 1991. And, unlike Phillips Petroleum, this is a defendants' class action. Defendants' citation to Whitson v. Heilig -Meyers, 1995 U.S. Dist. LEXUS 4312 (N.D. Ala 1995) and National Association for Mental Health Inc. v. Califano, 717 F.2d 1451, 1455 (D.C. Cir. 1983) do not support their assertion. The passage from Whitson relied upon by Defendants is mere dicta, given that the case simply did not involve a defendant class action. Califano is entirely distinguishable, as in that case the appeals court held that, unlike in the case at bar, the purported defendant class representatives did not have a sufficient financial or other stake in the litigation to meet the adequacy test. That diversity case was also dismissed because of an insufficiency of the matter in controversy, a far cry from the significant liability faced by the Spanos Defendants herein. The Phillips

1 Defendants' attempt to classify the current owner defendant class representatives (Knickerbocker
 2 and Highpointe) as "'inadequate' under Rule 23," MDIP 8:15-16, is just as unavailing as its attempt to
 3 eliminate certain older properties from the continuing violation alleged in the FAC. As outlined in 4 Section IV.A., above, properties owned by Knickerbocker (Mountain Shadows in Rohnert Park,
 5 California and The Commons in Vacaville, California) and Highpointe (Highpointe Village in Overland
 6 Park, Kansas) are part of the pattern and practice of designing and building noncompliant apartment
 7 complexes; to the extent the Court rejects the Defendants' statute of limitations argument and keeps
 8 these properties in the case, both Knickerbocker and Highpointe are "adequate" defendant class
 9 representatives because they have a stake in the outcome—the retrofitting of FHA-noncompliant features
 10 in a fashion least disruptive of their ongoing rental operations.

11 Furthermore, though the Spanos Defendants claim that neither putative defendant class
 12 representative has a property within the two-year statute of limitations period, MDIP 8:15-16, they 13 simultaneously ask the Court to take judicial notice of the fact that Highpointe owns a property that was 14 not completed until September 26, 2005, RJN Exhibit 134A, clearly within two years prior to the filing
 15 of the complaint herein. In other words, Highpointe is an "adequate" class representative even without 16 reference to the continuing violation doctrine.

17 Finally, the appropriate time for challenging the adequacy of the proposed defendant class is not 18 while the Court is considering these preliminary motions, but on Plaintiff's motion for class certification, 19 which will come before the Court shortly after it disposes of the pending motions.

20 2. Renters and Lenders Are Not Required Parties Under Rule 19(a). Nor Does Section
 21 3613(d) of the FHA Make It Infeasible to Obtain Retrofit Relief In Their Absence
 22 Under Rule 19 (b)

23 Defendants would have the Court believe that all 22,000 tenants must be joined in this litigation,
 24 and that the secured lenders for each property must also become party defendants. This assertion is 25 based on the faulty premise that any retrofitting order the Court may impose on the Spanos Defendants

26 Petroleum holding is further distinguishable because it involved a state class action rather than a class 27 action in Federal Court pursuant to Rule 23. See Besinga v. United States, 923 F.133, 136, fn 6 (9th Cir.
 28 1991).

1 will necessarily infringe on current tenancies, and therefore lenders' security will be impaired. MDIP 7.
 2 The premise is faulty because, as previous federal courts have held, the remedy Plaintiffs seek can be
 3 accomplished without inconveniencing current tenants or interrupting cash flow to the subject properties.

4 As countless federal courts have ordered, both in private FHA design and construction litigation
 5 and in similar cases brought by the U.S. Department of Justice, retrofitting of noncompliant apartment
 6 complexes is often the most appropriate remedy in a case such as this. The precise contours of the 7 retrofitting that might be necessary in this case are yet to be determined, but could certainly include 8 widening of doors to permit sufficient room for wheelchair users to enter, reinstalling fixtures in 9 kitchens and bathrooms to make them accessible to and usable by people with disabilities, and 10 repositioning light switches and environmental controls so they are within the reach range of wheelchair
 11 users. FAC ¶ 46. Additional retrofits may include redesigning parking lots to provide accessible
 12 parking spaces and curb cuts for wheelchair users, reducing the opening pressure on doors to common
 13 areas and building accessibility ramps to ensure that people with disabilities can use common features 14 like meeting rooms, recreational and entertainment facilities on the same basis as people without 15 disabilities. FAC ¶ 47.

16 Any inconvenience to tenants can be minimized by carefully controlling when the retrofit work is 17 done, such as between tenancies, thereby disrupting no one. Alternatively, when current tenants wish to 18 have their apartments immediately retrofitted, the work could be scheduled to take into account their 19 preferences and at their convenience, e.g. that the work be performed when they are at work or away on 20 vacation. Many of the retrofits within the apartments themselves, such as replacing thresholds at doors 21 to allow wheelchair passage, or lowering the placement of environmental controls so that they are within 22 the reach range of a wheelchair user can be done with minimal inconvenience to the occupants.²⁴

23
 24
 25 The Spanos Defendants provide no support to the contrary. They cite Schneider v. Whaley, 417 F.
 26 Supp. 750 (S.D. N.Y. 1976). In Schneider, the threatened property interest arose from the government's 27 closing a day care program. The parents of children in that program brought a class action arguing that 28 they had acquired an expectation that they would be able to send their children to the program, and that this expectation reached the level of a property interest, which should have been protected by due process. The court agreed, and it held the parents were entitled to notice and the opportunity to participate in the closure decision. Id. at 754-56. Defendants have made no showing here that tenants

1 Moreover, many of the needed modifications are to the common areas, which will not require that
 2 apartment units be vacant in order to conduct the work.

3 Many federal courts that have dealt with similar FHA design and construction accessibility cases
 4 have routinely fashioned remedial retrofitting orders to minimize or eliminate any infringement on 5 tenants by providing that structural work be done between tenancies, or at the convenience of sitting 6 tenants. For instance, in Rommel, the court rejected arguments that retrofitting of common areas would 7 inconvenience condominium orders, and held that retrofitting is permissible as long as the least 8 restrictive remedies are employed whenever possible. Id. at 712. As Judge Black later noted in 9 Baltimore Neighborhoods, Inc. v. LOB, Inc., 92 F.Supp.2d. 456 (D. Md. 2000): “[w]hen fashioning a 10 remedy for a civil rights violation, courts will be guided by general principles of equity.” (Citing 11 Milliken v. Bradley, 433 U.S. 267, 279-80, 97 S. Ct. 2749, 53 L.Ed.2d 745 (1977)). Id. at 468. The 12 Department of Justice routinely prays for, and federal courts grant, such phased remedial orders to 13 minimize inconvenience to current tenants.²⁵

14 With respect to secured lenders, Defendants have made no showing that lenders’ interests would 15 be impaired by bringing properties into FHA compliance. In fact, it is more likely that lenders’ security
 16 would be enhanced, as retrofits would be accomplished at the expense of the Spanos Defendants, and not

17
 18 interest in continuing to occupy these apartments for the duration of their lease will be jeopardized by 19 the retrofit relief Plaintiffs seek.

20²⁵ See, e.g., United States v. ERGS, Inc., et al. CV-N-02-0615 DWH (VPC) (D. Nev., consent order 21 entered July 13, 2005 (attached as Exhibit No. 4)). That order requires accessibility improvements to the 22 apartment units to be done over four years with much of the work performed between tenancies, while 23 the units are vacant. There are also detailed provisions to minimize the inconvenience to tenants. Id. at 24 ¶ II. Notably, the Court there also kept the current owner of the complex in the case as a necessary party
 25 to the retrofitting relief. See also United States v. Deer Run Management Company, Inc., et al., Civ.
 26 No.04-CV-5252 (JLH) (W.D. Ark.), Consent Decree entered Nov. 24, 2004, at ¶¶ III.A. 11-20; United States v. Makowsky Construction Company, et al., Civ. No. 01-2069 D/Pha (W.D. Tenn.), Consent
 27 Decree entered March 21, 2004, at ¶¶ 24-27 and 39; United States v. Bleakley, et al., Civ. No. 01-2226
 JWL (D. Kan.), Consent Order entered January 6, 2003, at ¶¶ V. A and B.; United States v. Canal Street
Apartments, et al., Civ. No. 01-115-S-BLW (D. Idaho), Consent Decree entered September 12, 2002 at ¶¶ II 1 and 2. These consent decrees may be found at:
<http://www.usdoj.gov/crt/housing/fairhousing/caseslist.htm#disability>

1 at the expense of current owners whose properties are collateral for the loans. Taken to its logical
 2 extreme, Defendants' insinuation that lenders should be joined would also mean that lenders would have
 3 to be joined in any case brought under the FHA, inasmuch as a damages or injunctive remedy against an 4 owner might have the effect of diminishing cash flow or requiring owners to pay damages. Clearly,
 5 federal courts should not require such an absurd result.

6 Despite Defendants' claim to the contrary, MD 16:23, lenders to the 82 current owners need not
 7 be added as parties because there is no evidence that the Court's remedial retrofitting will "impair" any 8 security interest. Plaintiffs seek an order from the Court that would provide for cost-free improvements
 9 to the subject properties, bringing them into line with the accessibility requirements of the FHA. This
 10 will actually enhance the security of the loans, inasmuch as FHA compliance will foreclose future
 11 litigation against the current owners, including litigation by the U.S. Department of Justice, which faces 12 no statute of limitations with respect to injunctive relief in design and construction cases, to bring the 13 properties into compliance. Surely, neither the Spanos Defendants nor current owners would be heard to 14 complain that other remedial measures to bring a property into compliance with local building, safety or 15 fire codes would impair the security of lenders. Insofar as Plaintiffs request, and the Court is likely to 16 enter, a remedial order that provides for retrofits between tenancies, there should be no disruption in 17 rental income cash flows (or, at the very least, none that could not be reimbursed by the Spanos 18 Defendants as part of any remedial order), and therefore no impairment of security. Finally, the illogic
 19 of requiring that lenders be joined as parties can be seen when the Court considers the slippery slope
 20 Defendants would seek. Conceivably any lawsuit brought against a current owner, for negligence or 21 discrimination or any other reason, could affect rental income cash flow. Surely, courts have routinely 22 proceeded with such claims between the real parties in interest without joining secured lenders.

23 Defendants also cite to 42 U.S.C. § 3613(d) as support for their argument that relief cannot be 24 accorded among the existing parties without the joinder of tenants and lenders.²⁶ Section 3613(d)
 25 provides:

26
 27
 28²⁶ Defendants also make this claim with respect to the owners. Plaintiffs agree that current owners should be joined if feasible, although Plaintiffs do not agree that § 3613(d) requires their joinder for the reasons stated above.

(d) Effects on certain sales encumbrances and rentals:

Relief granted under this section shall not affect any contract, sale, encumbrance, or lease consummated before the granting of such relief and involving a bona fide purchaser, encumbrancer, or tenant, without actual notice of the filing of a complaint with the Secretary or civil action under this subchapter.

Id. Defendants argue that § 3613(d) would bar this court from ordering the retrofit relief sought by Plaintiffs where such relief would affect leases or encumbrances entered into without knowledge of this case being filed. Defendants submit that the only way to provide such notice is to require Plaintiffs to join all current tenants and lenders as parties to this lawsuit. MDIP 5-7.

This analysis is wrong for two reasons. First, § 3613(d) only prohibits relief that would result in voiding a sale or lease to a bona fide purchaser, which is not the case where a court orders retrofitting.²⁷ The broad reading that Spanos urges upon this Court, which would bar any retrofits to remedy violations of 42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(3)(C) where bona fides don't have notice, was soundly rejected in Rommel. There the defendant association of condominium owners similarly invoked § 3613(d) arguing that it

²⁷ Section 3613(d) was a part of the FHA of 1968 and it was enacted to prevent the courts from evicting tenants (usually white tenants) from apartments where the lease for the apartment was signed after a prospective lessee (usually an African-American) had been denied the apartment because of his/her race. This is evident from the legislative history of the FHA amendments proposed in 1980 to revise the procedures for enforcing the FHA. Among the changes was to Section 814(d) of the FHA, enforcement by the HUD Secretary, to impose the same limitation in the remedies that administrative law judges could render as existed in the 1968 act with respect to the limitation on the remedy courts could impose in an enforcement by a private person. The report read:

As in court proceedings . . . the order of the administrative law judge may not interfere with the contractual rights of innocent, third parties—buyers or tenants or lien holders who execute contracts relative to the subject property prior to receiving notice of the charge filed under this title. . . . Consequently, where a bona fide purchaser, encumbrancer or tenant is present, the remedial order normally may not require that possession of the subject property be transferred to the aggrieved person; other forms of relief to make the victim whole should be considered.

96th Congress 2nd Session House of Representatives, Report No 96-865, Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1980 at 21 (emphasis supplied) (attached as Exhibit No. 5).

1 prevented the court from ordering the retrofit of common areas of their complex because the relief would
 2 impinge upon their property rights. The Rommel court rejected this and said: “Section 3613(d) should be
 3 read narrowly allowing courts to order retrofitting relief to common areas while being mindful that the 4 least intrusive remedies must be employed when possible.” Id. at 712. In so holding, the Rommel court
 5 noted an analogous case, Simovits v. Chanticleer Condominium Ass’n, 933 F.Supp. 1394 (N.D. Ill.
 6 1996), where the court ordered a condominium association to amend its bylaws to revoke an illegal age
 7 restrictive covenant prohibiting children from living in the building and to notify real estate firms in the 8 area of this revocation. Although the injunctive relief affected the rights of the bona fide purchasers who 9 bought their condominiums because they preferred a building without children, the Simovits court
 10 nevertheless granted this relief. Id. at 1408.²⁸

11 Second, even accepting Spanos’ broad interpretation of § 3613(d), it does not follow that tenants,
 12 lenders and owners must be made parties so that they are put on notice of the lawsuit. In Equal Rights
 13 Center v. Post Properties, Inc., 522 F.Supp.2d 1, (D.D.C. 2007), the court rejected a similar claim by 14 plaintiffs who sought a preliminary injunction preventing the sale of an alleged non-compliant property
 15 arguing that an injunction was necessary to prevent future purchasers, who did not have notice of the 16 lawsuit, from refusing to comply with any future order of the court to retrofit the units on grounds of 17 3613(d). The Court said this was “wholly theoretical conjecture” and “unsupportable” because the 18 ²⁸ Defendants primarily rely upon dicta in H.I.P. v. K. Hovnanian at Mahwah VI, Inc., 291 N.J. Super.

 19 144, 676 A.2d 1166 (N.J. Super.L, 1996), to support their claim that § 3613(d) would bar the retrofits of 20 properties of bona fide purchasers who were without knowledge of the litigation. H.I.P. v. K.
Hovnanian was an action to recover attorney fees and costs by a non-profit, following the settlement of a 21 lawsuit the nonprofit brought against the developer of a 78 unit condominium complex and the town permitting official for FHA and ADA violations. At the time of the filing of the lawsuit, only 12 units of 22 these condominiums had not been constructed and/or sold. In settlement, the developer agreed to modify these 12 units. Neither the individual owners of the constructed units or the owners’ association 23 were made a party to the lawsuit. 291 N.J. Super. at 155-56. The developer resisted fees and costs by 24 arguing that the relief obtained was so insignificant as to deny the nonprofit the status of a “prevailing 25 party.” The court held otherwise. It said that, although the sold units were beyond the courts authority to remedy, citing § 3613(d), plaintiff had received a substantial portion of the remedy it intended; and 26 this was sufficient to warrant finding that plaintiff was a prevailing party. Id. at 155-56. The court’s reference to § 3613(d) is merely in passing. It is but a side explanation of the court’s main concern, 27 which was whether the retrofitting of twelve units was enough to make the nonprofit a prevailing party.
 This can hardly be considered a considered a reasoned decision whether § 3613(d) prohibits any remedy, 28 which affects the property interest of bona fide purchasers.

1 “matter was public.” The court went on to say, “ ... most potential purchasers of Post properties will
 2 have actual or at least constructive knowledge of this, and will be hard pressed to qualify for bona fide
 3 purchaser status pursuant to § 3613(d).” Id. at 4.

4 In short, the Spanos Defendants offer no support for their speculation that tenants will be “ousted
 5 from their homes or deprived of the benefit of their leaseholds,” MDIP 7, and that such massive 6 disruption will devalue the deeds of trust, which secure their loans to the current owners. Clearly, then,
 7 they are not required parties under Rule 19. In the remedial phase of this litigation, the Court will have
 8 the opportunity to determine whether the retrofits proposed are equitable; and, in so doing, the court may 9 take into account the interests of those who are not parties to the lawsuit. Id. at 468-70. Hence, the relief
 10 requested by Plaintiffs need not jeopardize the property interest of entities who are not now present in 11 this lawsuit, as to trigger due process concerns.

12 D. DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO STRIKE IS NEITHER AN AUTHORIZED NOR A 13 PROPER WAY TO PROCURE DISMISSAL OF PART OF THE FIRST AMENDED
 14 COMPLAINT

15 Defendants recycle a number of substantive arguments from their other motions to peck away at 16 the FAC, asking that five of Plaintiffs claims be stricken from the FAC.²⁹ Plaintiffs note that the Spanos
 17 Defendants are using the wrong procedural means to challenge the sufficiency of the FAC. This Court
 18 has previously held that “Rule 12(f) ‘is neither an authorized nor a proper way to procure the dismissal
 19 of all or part of a complaint.’” Dion, LLC v. Infotek Wireless, Inc., 2007 WL 3231738 (N.D.Cal. Oct. 30, 20 2007), at *6 (internal citations omitted).

21 Plaintiffs would also remind Defendants that motions to strike “are generally ‘disfavored’ 22 because they are ‘often used as delaying tactics,’ id., and “because of the limited importance of

23
 24 ²⁹ The Spanos Defendants seek to strike: (1) Plaintiffs’ claim for damages (MS 2-4); (2) Plaintiffs’ claim
 25 for punitive damages (MS 4); (3) Plaintiffs’ claim for injunctive relief (MS 4-7); (4) Certain claims
 26 alleged to be barred by the statute of limitations (MS 7-8); and (5) Plaintiffs’ claims with respect to 27 properties not yet tested or subject to discovery (MS 8-11). For the reasons outlined below, these claims 28 are not properly the subject of a motion to strike; rather, they should be brought before the Court on a motion to dismiss. Indeed, the very arguments offered in support of (1), (3), (4) and (5), above, are borrowed from (and largely redundant of) Defendants’ primary motion to dismiss filed concurrently with the motion to strike. MD 11-23.

1 pleadings in federal practice.” Bureerong v. Uvawas, 922 F.Supp. 1450, 1479 (C.D. Cal. 1996)(quoting
 2 from Schwarzer, et al., Federal Civil Procedure § 9:375 (citing Colaprico v. Sun Microsystems, Inc.,
 3 758 F.Supp. 1335, 1339 (N.D.Cal. 1991)).

4 Furthermore, to prevail on any part of their motion to strike, the Spanos Defendants must
 5 establish that the complaint contains a “redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter....”
 6 Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(f).³⁰ None of the five claims challenged by Defendants can be said to be 7 “redundant” under a Wilkerson analysis. The portions of the complaint challenged by Defendants merely 8 outline the breadth of the FHA violations—at least 82 noncompliant apartment complexes comprising
 9 more than 22,000 units—and seek remedies that are explicitly provided by the FHA. See 42 U.S.C.
 10 §3613(c). As these matters have an “important relationship to the claim for relief,” Wilkerson, 229
 11 F.R.D. at 170, they cannot be described as “immaterial.” Each of the five claims is “relevant to the 12

13 ³⁰ While Defendants pluck out a quotation from Wilkerson v. Butler, 229 F.R.D. 166, 172 (E.D.Cal.
 14 2005), they fail altogether to mention that the reasoning of that case is substantially contra to the very 15 substance of their motion to strike. The Wilkerson court provided a thoughtful definition and analysis of each of the four terms referenced in Rule 12(f):

16 A “redundant” matter consists of allegations that constitute a needless 17 repetition of other averments or which are foreign to the issue to be 18 denied. An “immaterial” matter has no essential or important relationship
 19 to the claim for relief or defenses pleaded. A statement of unnecessary 20 particulars in connection with and descriptive of a material matter may be stricken as “immaterial.” Superfluous historical allegations are properly subject to a motion to strike.

21 An “impertinent” allegation is neither responsive nor relevant to the issues 22 involved in the action and which could not be put in issue or given in 23 evidence between the parties. An “impertinent” matter consists of 24 statements that do not pertain and are unnecessary to the issues in question. A “scandalous” matter improperly casts a derogatory light on 25 someone, usually a party. Allegations may be stricken as scandalous if the matter bears no possible relation to the controversy or may cause the objecting party prejudice.

26 Id. at 170 (internal citations omitted). A close reading of that case in conjunction with the complaint
 27 herein suggests that none of the grounds for Defendants’ motion to strike can support the relief they 28 request of this Court.

1 issues involved in the action and ...could...be put in issue or given in evidence between the parties," id.
 2 thereby removing them from the category of "impertinent" matters subject to a motion to strike. Finally,
 3 Defendants make no claim that any portion of the complaint is "scandalous."³¹

4 Because Defendants are unable to make a threshold showing that the relief they seek is even 5 available under Rule 12(f), their motion to strike should be denied peremptorily. But in the event the 6 Court should give the motion some credence, Plaintiffs respond as follows to each element of the 7 motion.

8

9 1. The Fair Housing Act Permits Plaintiffs to Recover Damages for Defendants'
Violations of the Act's Design and Construction Accessibility Requirements

10 While not using the language or analysis familiar in a challenge to a party's standing, it is clear
 11 that Defendants' first target for their motion to dismiss is premised on standing. The memorandum
 12 asserts that Plaintiffs may not recover damages absent an allegation in the First Amended Complaint that 13 "Plaintiffs belong to or sue on behalf of a 'class of persons' protected by the [FHA] and that a person
 14 who is a member of the protected class would have rented housing but for defendants' discriminatory
 15 housing practices." MS 2:20-23.

16 For reasons outlined in Section IV.B., above, Defendants are simply wrong in this assertion.³²
 17 The FAC adequately pleads that Plaintiffs have had their respective missions frustrated by the 18 Defendants' pattern and practice of building noncompliant housing, and have had to divert scarce
 19 resources from other efforts to promote awareness of—and compliance with—federal accessibility laws.
 20 FAC ¶¶ 72-75. While a motion to strike "may be used to strike any part of the prayer for relief when the

21

22³¹ Defendants' reliance on Barnes v. Callaghan & Company, 559 F.2d 1102 (7th Cir. 1977) is 23 perplexing. This out-of-Circuit case involved appellate review of a jury verdict in a case involving 24 slander and sex discrimination. The footnoted passage in Barnes, on which Defendants rely, is pure
 25 dictum, in that it is only a passing reference to the fact that the statute of limitations defense in that case
 26 had been raised in a motion to strike, but not determining that that procedural vehicle was appropriate.
 27 In any case, this passing reference in Barnes played no part in the holding in that case.

28³² Defendants cite, out of context, to cases involving people with disabilities or those who sought to 29 provide housing for them. While not misstating the elements of a prima facie case in the context of an 30 individual or housing provider, Defendant does make the mistake of concluding that Plaintiffs cannot 31 otherwise state a claim for damages.

1 damages sought are not recoverable as a matter of law," Bureerong, 922 F.Supp. at 1479, the language
 2 of the FHA makes it clear that Plaintiffs are entitled to recover actual damages pursuant, 42 U.S.C.
 3 §3613(c), and the FAC adequately pleads facts on which Defendants' liability can be grounded.

4

5 2. The Fair Housing Act Permits Plaintiffs to Recover Punitive Damages for 6 Defendants' Violations of the Act's Design and Construction Accessibility
 7 Requirements

8 The Spanos Defendants, without reference to any Ninth Circuit case, contend that punitive 9 damages are not available because "Plaintiffs herein do not claim to be disabled persons harmed by 10 invasion of their federally protected rights." MS 4:12-13. Again, Defendants are just wrong. Punitive 11 damages are available whenever it can be established that a defendant has engaged in a course of 12 conduct involving callous and reckless disregard of the rights established under the FHA. Smith v.
 13 Wade, 461 U.S. 30 103.S.CT.1625 (1983); Riga, 208 F.3d 419; United States v. Balistreri, 981 F.2d 14 916, 924 (7th Cir. 1992). On these preliminary motions, Plaintiffs have sufficiently pled that they are 15 "aggrieved persons" under the FHA, FAC ¶ 85, that they have been harmed in concrete ways, FAC ¶¶
 16 73-75, and that the Spanos Defendants "acted with callous and reckless disregard for the rights of 17 Plaintiffs and people with disabilities to accessible housing." FAC ¶ 77.

18 Courts routinely grant punitive damages under such circumstances. Fountila v. Carter, 571 F.2d
 19 487, 491 (9th Cir. 1978).³³ As recently as 2002, the Ninth Circuit affirmed a punitive damages award³⁴
 20 of $74,000 to a private fair housing enforcement organization in a race discrimination case under the 21 FHA. See Fair Hous. of Marin, 285 F.3d at 902.

22

23 ³³ See also Robert G. Schwemm, HOUSING DISCRIMINATION: LAW AND LITIGATION
 24 (Thompson West)(2007), § 25:10, at pp. 25-52 to 25-53 ("The defendant in the typical § 3613 case has 25 had no prior contact with the plaintiff nor does he bear the plaintiff any personal animosity. Still, anyone
 26 who decides to discriminate ... in the present day, even if that decision is made for economic or other 27 nonpersonal reasons, would presumably know that his conduct violates the plaintiff's rights. This 28 presumption would apply with particular force to those in the real estate business.")

29

30 ³⁴ The district court awarded the plaintiff compensatory damages of $24,377 and punitive damages of 31 $74,400, and adopted the magistrate judge's recommendation, made after a full hearing, of attorney's fees
 32 and costs in the amount of $508,606.78. The Ninth Circuit affirmed this entire award.

1
2 3. The Complaint Adequately Pleads a Claim for Injunctive Relief

3 In their motion to strike, Defendants contend that Plaintiffs are not entitled to injunctive relief
 4 requiring Defendants to retrofit all noncompliant complexes because Plaintiffs have not (1) named the 5 owners, renters and secured lenders of the 82 properties, and therefore have not stated a claim for 6 injunctive relief, and (2) alleged that the Spanos Defendants actually denied, or could deny, a rental to 7 anyone. The first of these claims repeats the arguments (virtually verbatim) from another motion, MDIP
 8 6-8, which Plaintiffs have already addressed in Section IV.C., above. The second is based on a cramped 9 and incomplete understanding of liability under the FHA.

10 It is entirely appropriate that the Court should order the Spanos Defendants to correct their 11 violations of the FHA; after all, they are the ones that chose to design and construct as many as 82
 12 apartment complexes in a fashion that makes them inaccessible to, and unusable by, people with 13 disabilities. FAC ¶¶ 46-71. Plaintiffs seek complete relief from the Spanos Defendants, including the 14 retrofitting necessary at each apartment complex and the payment of such sums to current owners as are 15 necessary to hold them harmless against any costs associated with those retrofits. Prayer for Relief ¶¶ B-16 D.

17 Successfully retrofitting the noncompliant complexes will require the cooperation of current 18 owners, whom Plaintiffs propose to add in the form of a defendant class. FAC ¶¶ 30-37. Although class
 19 certification has not been briefed and is not currently before the Court, Plaintiffs represent that such a 20 vehicle will permit the Court to direct current owners to cooperate in the assessment and retrofitting of 21 each property, thereby making manageable and achievable the retrofitting relief Plaintiffs seek.

22 Defendants confuse the question of whether the Court has authority under the FHA to enjoin
 23 Defendants to correct their noncompliant design and construction of 82 properties with the question of 24 whether other parties might be required or indispensable in this litigation. That other parties may need 25 notice or must cooperate with any retrofitting injunction entered by the Court does not diminish the 26 Court's ability to declare that the Spanos Defendants have violated the FHA design and construction 27 provisions, and to provide an effective remedy for those violations.

28 As outlined above, current owners of the subject properties are adequately represented in this

1 lawsuit through the two defendant class representatives.³⁵ Should the Spanos Defendants wish to
 2 challenge the adequacy of their representation or advocacy, Plaintiffs submit that the appropriate time to
 3 do that will be during the litigation on the defendant class certification motion, and not on a motion to 4 strike or to dismiss.

5 As further outlined above, Defendant misread 42 U.S.C. §3613(d). Rather than impairing the 6 Court's ability to order full relief in this matter, § 3613(d) provides the framework through which an
 7 orderly retrofitting can be done. See, e.g., Rommel, 40 F.Supp.2d at 711-12 (rejecting the argument
 8 made by Defendants in the case at bar in the context of condominium owners, who claimed their rights
 9 would be infringed by the retrofitting of the common areas of the condominium; court held that 10 retrofitting is permissible as long as the least restrictive remedies are employed when possible). See also 11 Baltimore Neighborhoods, 92 F. Supp. 2d. at 468 (“[w]hen fashioning a remedy for a civil rights 12 violation, courts will be guided by general principles of equity.” (Citing Milliken v. Bradley, 433 U.S.
 13 267, 279-80, 97 S. Ct. 2749, 53 L.Ed.2d 745 (1977)).

14 For reasons outlined in Section IV.B., above, the Court should reject the Defendants' invitation
 15 to narrow FHA liability to circumstances in which they deny rental units to individual tenants. Since 16 1991, Defendants have been obligated to design and build apartment complexes in compliance with the 17 accessibility provisions of the FHA. The fact that at least 34, and as many as 82, of the complexes for 18 which Defendants are responsible have one or more features that render them inaccessible amounts, in 19 and of itself, either to a denial of rental units to people with mobility impairments, or otherwise makes 20 those units unavailable to people with mobility impairments within the meaning of 42 U.S.C. §
 21 3604(f)(1). The Spanos Defendants may not have said “no” directly to any individual tenant, but they 22 have rendered thousands of units unavailable to people with disabilities. That Congress specifically 23 defined the failure to design and construct accessible housing as a form of discrimination for purposes of 24 § 3601(f)(1) reinforces the fact that it did not intend to insulate the Spanos Defendants from liability for 25 buildings after they had been sold to the current owners.

26
 27 ³⁵ Spanos Defendants suggest that Plaintiffs' claims against Knickerbocker and Highpointe are barred 28 because all of the properties owned by these defendant class representatives were fully constructed more than two years prior to the filing of the initial complaint in this matter. MS 5:22-23.

E. DEFENDANTS' MISCELLANEOUS GROUNDS IN SUPPORT OF THEIR MOTIONS ARE INSUFFICIENT SUPPORT FOR THE RELIEF REQUESTED

The Spanos Defendants allege that the FAC is “uncertain [about] the number of complexes sued on,” MDS 6:18-19, and seek a more definite statement pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e). Plaintiffs have, at n. 1, supra, acknowledged their error in listing Constellation Ranch in Fort Worth, Texas and Orion at Roswell in Roswell, Georgia, and in mis-numbering the apartment complexes in the appendix to the FAC. Removing these from the purview of the FAC, however, still leaves 82 properties that are unquestionably pled into this case. Surely, this does not rise to the level of being “so vague and ambiguous that [Defendants] cannot reasonably prepare a response,” Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e), as suggested by Defendants. MDS 6-7. As modified by the foregoing, the FAC alleges violations of the FHA’s design and construction requirements at 82 known properties, 34 of which were visited and/or tested by Plaintiffs. The FAC also alleges that Defendants may have committed FHA design and construction violations at other properties currently unknown to Plaintiffs, FAC ¶ 45, but likely to be identified in discovery. Plaintiffs submit that the foregoing amounts to all the relief to which Defendants are entitled on this point.

Defendants also recast their standing challenge as a matter subject to Rule 12(e). MDS 7-13. Rather than repeat their arguments on this issue here, Plaintiffs direct the Court to Section IV.B, supra, which contains an articulation of the grounds for their standing under the FHA.

V. CONCLUSION

Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs pray that the Court deny (1) the Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's First Amended Complaint or, Alternatively, for Partial Dismissal of Plaintiff's First Amended Complaint [Doc. 48; Memorandum, Doc. 48-3](hereinafter, "MD" or "Motion #1"); (2) the Motion for More Definite Statement [Doc. 50; Memorandum; Doc 50-2](hereinafter, "MDS" or "Motion #2); (3) the Motion to Dismiss Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint for Failure to Join Necessary and/or Indispensable Parties [Doc. 49; Memorandum, Doc. 49-3](hereinafter, "MDNIP" or "Motion #3); and

1 (4) the Motion to Strike Various Claims for Relief [Doc. 52; Memorandum, Doc. 52-2](hereinafter,
2 "MS" or "Motion #4).

3
4 Dated: February 19, 2008

5 Respectfully submitted,

6
7 /s/ D. Scott Chang
8

9 Michael Allen
10 Stephen M. Dane
11 John P. Relman
12 Thomas J. Keary
13 Pending admission pro hac vice
D. Scott Chang, #146403
Relman & Dane, PLLC
1225 19th Street, NW, Suite 600
Washington, DC 20036
Telephone: (202) 728-1888
Fax: (202) 728-0848

14 Attorneys for Plaintiffs

15
16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25
26
27 28

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

I hereby certify that on this the 19th day of February 2008, I filed the foregoing Memorandum of Points and Authorities In Support of Plaintiffs' Consolidated Opposition to the Spanos Defendants' Motions (1) to Dismiss Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint, (2) For More Definite Statement re First Amended Complaint, (3) To Dismiss For Failure to Join Required and Indispensable Parties, and (4) To Strike Various Claims for Relief Sought in Plaintiffs First Amended Complaint with the Court's ECF system, which sent electronic notice to:

Stephen Walters
Makesha Patterson
Allen Matkins Leck,, Gamble, Mallory & Natsis, LLP
Three Embarcadero Center, 12th Floor
San Francisco, CA 94111
swright@allenmatkins.com
mpatterson@allenmatkins.com
Attorneys for Defendant Knickerbocker Properties

Thomas Keeling
Lee Roy Pierce Jr.
Freeman, D'Aiuto, Pierce, Gurev, Keeling & Wolf
1818 Grand Canal Boulevard
Stockton, California
tkeeling@freemanfirm.com
*Attorney for Defendants A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.,
A.G. Spanos Development, Inc., A.G. Spanos Land Company, Inc.,
A.G. Spanos Management, Inc., and The Spanos Corporation*

Shirley Jackson
Steefel, Levitt, & Weiss, LLP
One Embarcadero Center, 30th Floor
San Francisco, CA 94111
sjackson@steefel.com
Attorney for Defendant Highpointe Village, L.P.

/s/ Nicholas Cain
Nicholas Cain